Say Man Admits Slaying

Jersey Police Claim Child Killer Taken

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey State Police said today they have captured the alleged killer of 4-year-old Edith Kiecorius.

A state police spokesman said a man using the name of Fred Thompson was picked up at a chicken farm near Lakehurst when he applied for a job. The spokesman said the man admitted killing the blonde girl in a tenement room in New York last Wednesday.

News of the capture came as New York City police were combing a huge area of lower Manhattan in an effort to turn up the suspected sex-killer.

The wanted man is Fred Thompson, 39, a vagabond in whose dingy, 38-a-week room the body of the blonde 4-year-old girl was found Sunday.

An autopsy showed she had been raped and beaten to death with a blunt instrument, probably a short time after she disappeared last Wednesday from in front of her uncle's home.

Police and detectives, armed with fingerprints and a photograph from a cabaret work permit, were combing the vagrant-frequented areas of the city.

The room in which Edith's battered body was found was littered with beer cans and a whisky bottle. Thompson has a long record of drunken sprees.

Fingerprints from the beer cans matched those on the cabaret license which Thompson took out Nov. 13, 1953, when he went to work as a night club doorman.

Detectives announced Monday night they had located Thompson's wife, three married daughters and 93-year-old mother—persons they described as "very respectable" and who wanted nothing to do with the man.

He had left them 15 years ago the detectives said, and they had assumed he was dead. Identity of the family was withheld, but police said they lived in the New York City area.

The picture of the hunted man's life in more recent years was further filled out by police and the manager of a resort hotel in the Catskill Mountains.

Police said he had been arrested for drunkenness twice in recent years in the Catskills. He fired him for getting drunk in his room while pretending to be ill.

He was also described at the hotel as a meek, somewhat effeminate man—one who looked like a bum but showed traces of considerable education.

Sira Arena, 34, who rented the Chelsea district room to Thompson Feb. 14, said "He looked very nice, and spoke softly. . . he didn't look like the type who drank."

He was born in London, England, and claimed to have been raised in Worcester, Mass.

Scores of persons resembling Thompson have been picked up and questioned in New York City and other parts of the country.

More than 200 New York City detectives are assigned to the case. In addition, everyone of the 24,000-member city police force is taking an indirect, though determined hand in the manhunt.

Funeral Thursday

The FBI said it has not entered the case but is maintaining a close liaison with city police.

A mass of the angels for the slain girl will be offered at 9:30 a. m. Thursday in St. Rose of Lima Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn. Burial will follow in Wellwood Cemetery, Pinelawn, Long Island.

Fire Sprinkler Bill Supported By Two Parties

Fire Chief James M. Brett's sustained effort to gain mandatory installation of approved automatic sprinkler systems in public buildings has received bipartisan support in the state legislature, the New York State Firefighters Association reported today.

A bill, which the association holds, "would protect the life of every school child in the state," is sponsored by Senator E. Ogden Bush (R) of DeLancey, and Assemblywoman Mrs. Bessie Allison Buchanan (D) New York City.

Would Mandate Sprinklers

Professional fire fighting organizations in the state and nation already have given the measure unanimous support. It would amend the state education law and would mandate sprinkler systems in certain school buildings.

The bill, which would apply to school structures outside cities having a population of a million or more, stems from a resolution authored by Chief Brett and adopted by the International Association of Fire Fighters, International Association of Fire Chiefs, and New York Association of Fire Fighters and the New York State Association of Fire Chiefs.

Adopted Before Fire

Ironically, it was noted, "Brett's resolution was adopted first in August, 1958 by the International Association of Fire Fighters and in September of the same year by the International Association of Fire Chiefs—four months prior to the tragic parochial school fire in Chicago, Dec. 1, 1958, which claimed a total of 95 lives."

Chief Brett said it was "a tragic testimony to public apathy that the resolution's nationwide exposure never came about until after the Chicago school holocaust."

Senator Bush and Assemblywoman Buchanan said the purpose of the bill is to protect human lives from fire, to preserve school properties from destruction by fire, to reduce fire insurance premiums and to insure

2 Orange Councils Favor Jetport, 250 Others Protest

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP) — A proposal to build a $220 million jet airport in the farmland south of this Orange County community won mixed reaction Monday night.

The municipal councils of the county's two largest cities—Newburgh and Middletown—gave solid backing to the idea.

But about 250 persons appeared at a public hearing here to demonstrate their opposition to the jetport being considered by the Port of New York Authority.

One was Gregory Masfield of Warwick, who said the "county already is growing too fast and taxes are rising too high."

Another speaker, Walter Dwyer of Vernon, N.J., said the planes taking off from the airport would be going right over Vernon. This eventually would make the community a "desolate" area, he said.

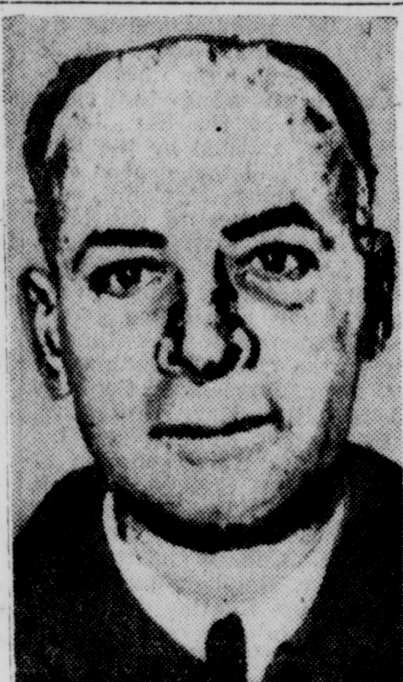

The opposition speakers appeared at the last of five hearings held by the Orange County Board of Supervisors Jetport Committee. An opposition petition signed by 2,600 county residents also was presented.

The Newburgh City Council voted unanimously to urge Gov. Rockefeller, the Legislature and the Port of New York Authority to select the area around Pine Island as the site of the port which would serve the New York metropolitan region.

The Middletown Council vote was 8-0 with one member abstaining in favor of further study.

The resolution called for action to guarantee that farmers and others displaced by the jetport would receive fair compensation not only for their land but also for equipment, improvements and business losses.

The jetport would occupy an area of about 10,000 acres.

Deputy and Other Driver Hurt in 3-Car Collision

One man was admitted to Kingston Hospital with back injuries, a deputy sheriff reported he would seek treatment from his family doctor and a third man escaped injury at 7:30 o'clock this morning in a three-car accident on Route 9W at Ulster Park.

Frank Morgan, 49, of Trailer Haven, Albany Avenue extension, was driving south when his truck and the car of Deputy Sheriff James Marano, 65, of Marlborough, traveling north, were involved in a collision. The third car, driven by Lowell Signor, Lindorf Place, Ulster Park, was unable to stop and struck the Marano car.

Morgan was admitted to Kingston Hospital with back injuries. His condition was later reported as "fair." Deputy Sheriff Marano, who was enroute to Kingston to assume his duties as assistant jailer at the Ulster County jail, suffered bruises and was taken to his home in Marlborough where he was to seek treatment by his family doctor.

Deputy Sheriffs Jack Seaholm and John Daly investigated the accident. State Troopers from Highland assisted in directing traffic at the scene.

According to a report filed after the accident, Deputy Sheriff Marano was driving north and was passing a vehicle ahead when the south-bound car operated by Morgan "hung to the white line" and according to the report did not keep to right sufficiently to avoid a collision. The Signor car was unable to stop, the report stated, and struck Marano's car.

Find Lake Guilty Of Hitting Police

A city court jury Monday found Howard Lake, 39, of Sawkill Trailer Park, guilty of third degree assault.

Arrested last July 22 after reported assault involving detectives Leonard Ellsworth and William Slover, Lake has a $250,000 claim pending against the city and the detectives.

The trial before City Judge Aaron E. Klein began yesterday morning and ended at 5 p. m. The jury was out about a half hour. The trial was on the charge as lodged by Detective Ellsworth and sentence was put over to March 6.

Attorney Michael Nardone, of Highland, appeared for Lake and Francis J. Vogt for the district attorney's office.

The detectives reported on the date of arrest that they found Lake asleep in the front seat of a car with his feet out a door and his car's motor running on the parking grounds of Dietz Stadium. He struck them when they awakened him, they said.

Filed last Oct. 4 in the Common Council, the claim was referred to Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly. It holds that injuries suffered by Lake in his encounter with the detectives were, in part, of permanent nature, and also asks for settlement because of alleged damage to his "good name and reputation."

GOP Trims Budget as Vote Nears $20 Million Cut In Spending Aim

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republicans are aiming for cuts totaling $20 million in Gov. Rockefeller's record $2.4-billion budget.

The GOP-controlled fiscal committees are trying to trim that much from the Republican governor's spending program for 1961-62 before reporting it out for a vote. GOP sources said today.

It is probable that any such reduction in the budget would bring on a wave of demands from lawmakers that the money trimmed be used later for more state aid for elementary-secondary education.

To Talk Fiscal Affairs

Fiscal affairs were expected to be a chief topic at a meeting today of the governor and legislative leaders.

They also planned to discuss a timetable for dealing with other major issues before the 1961 Legislature, which enters its final month Wednesday.

The leaders have decided tentatively on a March 24 adjournment date. It is possible the session will run into the following week, however.

The budget, for the year beginning April 1, will be reported from committee late this week or early next week. A final vote is expected by March 9.

The lawmakers then will turn to other top matters—the governor's higher-education program, tax relief for railroads, legislation to curb bias in the sale or rental of private housing and various proposals to bar public relief to newcomers to the state.

Other Developments

These were other legislative developments:

Non-Resident Taxes — The Senate gave final approval Monday night to legislation that would provide $5 million in tax relief for non-residents paying New York State personal income taxes. They would be allowed to claim the same non-business deductions as New Yorkers. Rockefeller has endorsed the tax relief.

Advertising—The Office for Local Government sponsored legislation that would allow municipalities to sue for damages.

2 Would Amend Law Barring Strikes by Public Employees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Condon-Wadlin Law barring strikes by public employees has often been ignored, two Republican legislators declared today in proposing an amendment to the controversial statute.

The measure, would require governmental units to establish grievance procedures to air employees' complaints about working conditions. The basic anti-strike provision of the act would be retained.

The proposed change is based on the theory that workers with an outlet for complaints would not consider a strike the only way to resolve problems, the legislators said.

The amendment was sponsored by Sen. William F. Condon, R-

Legislators Hear Farmer Views Today

A delegation representing the Ulster County Farm Bureau went to Albany today to discuss with State legislative leaders the farmer viewpoint on major issues at sessions to be attended by more than 300 representatives of the New York Farm Bureau.

Philip Davis, Kerhonkson, a member of the policy execution committee of the Ulster Farm Bureau, said Governor Nelson Rockefeller would be a speaker at a dinner tonight to discuss various issues important to farmers.

To See Bush, Wilson

Davis said the local delegates were scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. with Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Senator E. Ogden Bush to discuss the farmer viewpoint on major issues of particular interest to area farmers.

Other members of the local delegation were Roy F. Dennis, president of the state farm organization, the issues which have been given top priority for discussion are: the need for protecting producers of perishable products from losses due to strikes or labor disputes for which they are not responsible and over which they have no control; the need for extending exemption from need for chauffeur licenses to operators of agriculturally licensed trucks, and need for legislation making it illegal for labor unions to bargain for farmers.

Other issues on the agenda are increasing the legal age for sale of alcoholic beverages from 18 to 21; posting roads during spring break-up, and several school issues including school finance and the need for repeal of the Speno bus transportation law.

Prices Still 1.6 PC Over 1960

Living Costs Dip Ever So Slightly in Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs declined slightly in January—the first drop in 12 months.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today its consumers price index dropped by a tenth of one per cent because of lower prices for clothing, used cars, eggs, milk, fresh fruits and tomatoes.

The index fell to 127.4 from December's record level of 127.5. In the index, 100 represents average prices in 1947-49.

No Wage Change

Despite the drop from December, January prices were 1.6 per cent higher than in January 1960. The index rose in every month last year except August, when it held steady.

Because prices did not rise in January, there will be no change in wages of about a million workers in the auto industry and related fields whose pay is adjusted to the living cost index.

Robert J. Myers, BLS deputy commissioner, attributed much of the January price drop to weather conditions, although adding that a recession decline in demand doubtless had some effect.

Myers said the weather curtailed clothing sales in December and that department stores, because of large January inventories, offered sharp price reductions in women's suits and coats. There also were some price cuts in shoes and other clothing items.

Clothing Prices Down

Average clothing prices dropped by 1.1 per cent from December to January.

Used car prices were down 2.5 per cent and Myers said this development was influenced, too, by the weather.

Food prices, on the average were down a tenth of 1 per cent. As for the February outlook, Myers said he would expect little change although a drop between January and February is normal.

In a separate report, the bureau said the spendable earnings and buying power of factory workers were virtually unchanged in January.

Spendable earnings—take-home pay after taxes—for a factory worker with three dependents amounted to $79.97 a week, the same as in December.

Earnings normally drop in January following the pre-Christmas season.

Group Interviews Three More for Education Posts

Interviewing of prospective candidates for the Kingston Board of Education (Consolidated) continued Monday night in the second of four sessions scheduled by the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee.

Thirty-five members of the committee were present at the George Washington School to interview three prospective candidates for two positions which became vacant on the board of education in May.

Two More Sessions

It is the policy of the committee to withhold the names of candidates who appear before it.

Two other meetings of the committee will be held to interview prospective candidates—Monday, March 13, and Monday, March 27. The meetings will begin at 8 p. m.

Each of last night's candidates was questioned at length about matters pertaining to education.

The candidate's qualification sheet was first read to the group by Mrs. Gifford Beal, secretary. The candidate was then asked a predetermined set of general questions on education and attitude, after which questions were received from the floor.

Election Is May 2

The election of two members of the board of education will be held Tuesday, May 2.

Threat To Capital Is Slackening No Outside Help One Major Clause

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The central Congo government today signed a military pact with independent Katanga and the Kasai mining state for a united front against the leftist rebels. But a rebel threat to this capital seemed to be evaporating.

As the pact was signed in Katanga President Moise Tshombe's capital of Elisabethville, the United Nations reported that leftist rebels had pulled out of the Kasai provincial capital of Lulua-bourg while their spearhead at the frontier of Leopoldville Province had vanished.

Could Challenge Gizenga

The pact among the three frequently feuding regimes could lead to a political federation capable of challenging the Communist-backed regime of Antoine Gizenga, the dead Patrice Lumumba's political heir, in Stanleyville.

Premier Joseph Ileo, sent by President Joseph Kasavubu to Elisabethville to seek Tshombe's help, signed for the Leopoldville government. President Albert Kalonji signed for his independent mining state of Kasai Province. Tshombe signed for Katanga.

One clause of the agreement said the signatories "are determined to solve their problems themselves and will not accept any outside intervention."

Soldiers Stay On

Kasavubu had a private talk with G. Mennen Williams, touring U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs. He was said to have told Williams that the Congolese government is not waging a cold war against the United Nations.

Williams assured Kasavubu of President Kennedy's continued support for the Leopoldville government against the Stanleyville regime. Kasavubu was said to have asserted his will to cooperate with the United Nations if it consults with and works with the Congo central government.

Tension in Leopoldville continued high after the outbreak of violence and rape by Congolese soldiers Sunday night against U.N. personnel.

Mayor Told Signs On Artery System Meet Standards

A report to state and federal officials of local complaints against the aspect of signs on the city arterial route system brought the reply that they meet "required interstate standards."

Mayor Edwin F. Radel revealed today.

Many complaints were received the mayor said, and some persons thought the signs were placed by a state-approved contractor.

The mayor wrote to both the State Department of Public Works and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, listing objections as reported to him. The signs, said the mayor, are in the heart of the city where through traffic must pass and "we see a series of most unattractive structures

Nine Local Services Will Share $99,119 From Chest

Nine community services will share a total of $99,119 as a result of last fall's Red Feather Campaign, it was announced today by W. Henry Haltermann, president of the Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc.

The distribution is slightly more than the $99,006 paid to the agencies under the general chairmanship of Harold H. Heider.

Allocations to the agencies were adopted by the Community Chest's board of directors on recommendation of its Budget Committee, headed by William H. Hobbs.

They are: Association for the Help of Retarded Children, $3,373; Boys' Club, $10,027; Boy Scouts, $14,500; Girl Scouts, $8,302; Jewish Community Center, $12,000; Salvation Army, $10,161; USO, $6,550; YMCA, $23,921 and YWCA, $14,185.

Expenses of the campaign totaled $8,973.11, about 7 per cent of the total raised, or about three-fourths of one per cent per agency. Other central services items include $10,017.48 for year-round planning, budget administration, disbursement of funds, pledge collections and billing; and a reserve of $3,687.26 against possible unpaid pledges against death, illness, moving from area or loss of employment. These items are not included in the $99,119, which will go directly to agencies.

Polls Close at 9 In New Paltz School Bond Vote

New Paltz School District voters started casting ballots on the $490,000 school bond issue at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The polls at the school will close at 9 p. m. tonight.

The bond issue if approved will provide funds to build a 12-room elementary school on the Jack Erman property. Plans call for the construction of two kindergarten rooms; 10 standard classroom rooms to be used as needed; a remedial reading room near the library; an all-purpose room with tables that fold into the wall so that the space may be utilized for dining purposes and for a gymnasium and meeting room; a serving area; an office with a door leading into the nurse's room; a teachers' room; necessary washrooms; storage space and boiler room.

Dixie Situation

Danger of New Flooding Eases, Others in Line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The danger of new flooding in the stricken areas of the Southland lessened as the Weather Bureau predicted rains today would be less than had been anticipated.

But the floodwaters receding from the hard-hit inland cities posed a threat to areas farther south.

The rains, which moved into Louisiana and Mississippi Monday night and spread across Alabama and Georgia today, were expected to be much lighter than had been originally forecast. The Weather Bureau in Atlanta said the rain would be mostly showers and very light except in north Alabama, north Georgia and Tennessee where it would be moderate.

The new flood danger area extended from Jackson, Miss., across to Bainbridge, Ga. The lowlands around the Mississippi capital city were evacuated Monday night as the crest moved down the Pearl River. An estimated 600 persons may be forced out of their homes at Jackson.

In Alabama, Selma braced for a 37.8-foot crest on the Alabama River, which earlier had forced thousands from their homes at Montgomery. An estimated 1,400 persons were being cared for Monday night in Red Cross shelters at Selma.

President Kennedy designated most of the flood-ravaged area as a major disaster area, eligible for federal aid. The Small Business Administration named 15 counties in Alabama, 6 in Mississippi and 2 in Georgia as being eligible for reconstruction or rehabilitation loans.

Three multimillion-dollar public works projects on the Chattahoochee River between Georgia and Alabama were in danger from the flood waters. The U.S. Corps of Engineers prepared to flood the entire 20-acre construction area to save a large coffer dam at the $15-million Columbia (Ala.) dam and lock project.

At Fort Gaines, Ga., minor leaks were reported in a coffer dam surrounding the Walter F. George lock construction site. At Georgetown, the river already had swept away two 30-foot construction bridges and overflowed a small coffer dam at the site of a new highway bridge and railroad trestle under construction.

Death Toll at 13

The death toll has climbed to 13 in the flood area.

Some rain also fell in the southwest portion of the Ohio Valley and in the Pacific northwest.

Snow fell over Missouri, where Springfield reported one inch now on the ground. Snow also fell over elevations of the Rockies. At Idaho, nearly two inches of new snow raised the ground total to 13 inches.

Key West Warmest

Early temperatures ranged from below freezing to the northern tier of states to the 40s and 50s in southern New England, Southwest and south Atlantic states to the 60s in the Gulf Coast region and the 70s in Florida and South Texas.

The early morning's highest reading was 75 at Key West, Fla., and the lowest 16 degrees at International Falls, Minn., and Pellston, Mich.

Pranks Too Much

LYONS, Mich. (AP) — Student pranks forced Wilfred E. Barton to quit his teaching job at Lyons-Muir High School.

Barton, 50, told school officials he "couldn't take it anymore." So he packed up his belongings and left for New Orleans and his family. He has a science degree from Tulane and a master's from Harvard.

In disclosing Barton's resignation, School Supt. Carl H. Anderson said Monday students complained Barton worked them too hard. Anderson said a small group harassed the teacher with telephone calls, pranks and threats.

Gets Life Term

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Benjamin Crippen, 30, of Rome, N.Y., was convicted Monday of first degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The same jury of 11 men and one woman convicted him of robbery and set a 21-year sentence on that charge.

Both charges arose from the slaying of Otto Mead, 50, during a holdup last June 4 at his store in nearby Milltown. Crippen, serving a prison term for another robbery at Judsonia, had pleaded innocent.

T-Men Arrest 7 Gamblers; Led by Woman

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — An attractive blue-eyed brunette led a score of U. S. Treasury agents in a raid on a suspected bookie headquarters Monday.

She is Miss Arlyne F. Hassett, 36, assistant U. S. attorney in Boston.

Seven men were arrested—all charged with failure to pay the $30 federal gambling tax.

The Treasury men battered their way into the ranch-style home with sledge hammers. Miss Hassett stood by an agent who drew his pistol to cut off the escape of one of the men.

"I was thrilled," said Miss Hassett later, "but I was flustered. It looked like someone would get hurt when one of the agents drew his gun. I was relieved that no shots were fired."

Authorities said the alleged ring operated a $7-million business since 1953.

School Bond Issue

John Ashton Jr., president of New Paltz Central School District, today pointed out the statement by members of the Gardner Civic and Taxpayers Association in regard to a shale condition at the proposed site of a new school building off Route 32, is entirely in error and that the present site under consideration is not the same site which was previously mentioned.

The site now under consideration is some distance from the other site through which a shale ledge runs.

Issues Statement

The statement of President Ashton, issued today states:

"A statement appeared in the February 24, 1961, issue of The Kingston Daily Freeman to the effect that the proposed bond issue in New Paltz is inadvisable. It was based upon an inaccuracy.

"The individual who issued the statement must have been present at the regular meeting of the Board of Education on Monday, February 20, for although I was misquoted, a question that was asked at that time is mentioned. My statement then was as follows: 'The Board has decided against an additional public hearing because this proposal is so similar to the previous one.'

"It is unfortunate that the individual concerned was not listening a few minutes earlier when a different question was answered. Nevertheless, it was recorded.

Notes Quotation

"The following quotation is taken from the February 22 issue of the New Paltz News:

"Mr. Ashton explained that the proposed Erman site is a different one from the Erman site which the State Department did not recommend and which the board previously rejected. The present proposed site, he said, is north of the rock ledge, which made the first Erman site unsatisfactory, and has satisfactory soil according to tests."

"Mr. Ashton said that the board chose the present Erman site for this bond issue because it is free, because the board could save the $20,000 the Bruckmayer property would have cost, and because the board would be able to pay for the site development because of this saving."

"Mr. Erman pointed out that the land he had donated was about 17 or 18 acres, whereas the Bruckmayer property was 15 acres."

To Assume Cost

"It is pertinent to add that Mrs. Van Alst has offered to assume the cost of installing a water line from Sunset Ridge to the proposed site."

"It is to be hoped that no one will be misled by some individual's misconception. This is a different property. As a result of our soil tests it appears to be highly satisfactory."

Balloting on the proposal will be held at the school from 2 to 9 p. m. today.

Knights in Fourth Degree Pay Honor To Rt. Rev. Drury

Tribute to the religious and civic leadership of the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury was expressed in a resolution passed Monday night by Kingston Assembly 275, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus.

It said that "in 22 years of service in the community, Msgr. Drury endeared himself by his devout and priestly life, his devotion to duty, and his concern for the welfare of all our citizens, but especially for those souls committed to his care as pastor of St. Mary's Church."

The resolution also cited his concern for the advancement of public good, his interest in health and hospitals and his service as chaplain of the Kingston Police Department.

There was expression of sympathy to members of his family, and the stipulation that the Assembly provide a guard of honor at ceremonies incidental to the monsignor's funeral.

Signers of the resolution were the Rt. Revs. Joseph D. Ostermann and Stephen P. Connelly, also Joseph F. Sullivan, past navigator of the Assembly. Officers are Bernard O'Neill, faithful navigator; and Andrew T. Gilday, faithful controller.

Bid to Kasavubu Cooperate To Avoid War: Dag

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld warned Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu today that the United Nations will no longer permit its peace efforts to be blocked by political opposition.

In a letter to Kasavubu, Hammarskjöld called for full cooperation of the Leopoldville government in averting a civil war. But he added that the United Nations has the strength and the determination to carry out its mission without such cooperation, if necessary.

Part of Council Report

"Those engaged in these measures on behalf of the United Nations cannot allow themselves to be forcibly deterred from carrying them out," he said.

The letter to Kasavubu was part of a report Hammarskjöld made to the Security Council on steps he is taking to carry out last week's resolution authorizing use of U.N. force if needed to preserve order in the Congo. The Soviet Union has been pressing for a report.

Hammarskjöld told Kasavubu that no conciliation is possible without the removal of all military forces from politics.

In addition, the secretary-general disclosed he had taken these additional steps to implement the Asian-African Congo resolution for setting up a broad Congo peace plan:

Other Steps Taken

1. Warned Belgium it must take "immediately and effective action" to remove Belgian political and military advisers from the Congo.

2. Appealed to all U.N. member nations to see that no foreign mercenaries leave their territories for the Congo.

3. Asked Indonesia and Morocco to delay the withdrawal of their troops from the U.N. force.

4. Appealed to all African member states with the exception of Libya and Togo to speed contributions to the U.N. force so that it can be built up to 23,000 troops.

5. Asked the International Court of Justice to suggest names of an African, an Asian and a Latin American who would undertake an impartial investigation into the execution of Congo leader Patrice Lumumba and his associates. The African would be chairman of the three-member investigation group.

County NAACP Is Opposing Housing Bill in Albany

A group of representatives of the Ulster County Branch of the NAACP joined some 3,000 other persons today in Albany to demonstrate at the Capitol against a bill awaiting Governor Nelson Rockefeller's signature as a curb on discrimination in housing.

Everette Hodge, 21 Franklin Street, president of the local branch, who had intended to lead the delegation from here, but was unable to because of other commitments, said 14 Kingston residents left in a small bus for Albany to take part in the demonstration.

Says Bill Inadequate

Hodge said the housing bill now before the Legislature "is very inadequate" and he added, "there is no protection in areas where the Negro needs housing most."

"We would rather not have anything," said Hodge. He noted that the bill excludes one, two and three family housing and also excludes dwellings for 10 or more families.

Mrs. Myrtice H. Gore, president of the Albany NAACP, quoted George M. Fleary of Brooklyn, the association's legislative chairman, to the effect that the prospective law contains too many exemptions as it establishes barriers to housing discrimination.

Reasons for Objection

Mrs. Gore said that Fleary objected to the bill because it exempts one-family and two family homes, whether or not owner-occupied, as well as owner-occupied three family dwellings.

The bill was introduced by Senator George H. Metcalf, Cayuga County Republican, and Assemblyman Bertram L. Baker, Brooklyn Democrat. A similar bill was defeated last year in the Senate, and the one passed in this session contains modifications which the NAACP considers unacceptable.

Governor Rockefeller has indicated that he is not entirely pleased with the bill before him.

Postmaster's Group Hear About Remodeling

Richard C. Jones, real estate officer of Albany District, U. S. Post Office Department, discussed plans in general about remodeling and the building of new plants at the recent meeting of Ulster County Postmaster's Association at Kingston Central Post Office.

Jones spoke in general terms and did not specifically mention area post offices which may be included in the plans under discussion by the department.

Edward Doulin, fleet service officer, addressed the group on transportation of mail.

A report was given on the membership campaign and the installation dinner held at Woodstock in January.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, postmaster at Hurley, presided.

New President ... Same Cry

Castro Blisters JFK, Renews His Invasion Charge

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government launched an all-out attack on President Kennedy's administration today and charged anew the United States is plotting to overthrow the Cuban strongman.

The blistering attack was contained in a lengthy note sent Monday night to Latin-American foreign ministers. It was to be distributed later to the Organization of American States and the United Nations.

Same Old Story: Envoy

The Cuban note recalled the invasion charges Castro hurled at the Eisenhower administration a few months ago. Washington denounced those charges as a cover-up to divert the Cuban people's attention from economic troubles at home.

One Latin-American diplomat shrugged off the latest Cuban note as "the same old story"—this time directed at the Kennedy administration.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa charged the United States with plotting a twofold plan to bring down the Castro regime. The first phase would be an attempt to overthrow Castro before the conference of Western Hemisphere foreign ministers in Quito May 24.

If that fails an alternative plan would create conditions for indirect military aggression masterminded by the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency. This would be masked by a declaration of war against Cuba by Guatemala, Nicaragua or Peru that would permit the setting up of a beachhead on Cuban soil. An artificial provisional government then would be set up in Cuba and probably receive direct military aid.

3 Political Architects

The Cuban note charged the "political architects" of the plot were Adolf A. Berle Jr., head of Kennedy's special inter-department task force to Latin America; Thomas Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and Mann's deputy Arturo Morales Carrion of Puerto Rico.

Runs Short on Birthdays

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Jean Holland Kelsall celebrated her 21st birthday today. And 63 years from now her twin brother Jimmy can do the same. Mrs. Kelsall was born at 11:20 p.m. on Feb. 28, 1940. Brother Jimmy arrived three hours later on the Leap Year day of Feb. 29. As a result, he has so far had only five birthdays.

FIREMEN STUDY FIRST AID—Kingston Fire Department has been praised by Daniel H. Morehouse, first aid chairman, Ulster County Red Cross Chapter, for participation in first aid training. Twenty-two firemen have attended classes in standard and advanced courses. Tass Says Yank Killed in Laos

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today in a dispatch from Hanoi that an American officer was killed in fighting in Laos near Van Vieng recently.

The U.S. State Department has denied that any Americans are involved in the Laotian fighting.

Fishing War Over

LONDON (AP)—A compromise has brought an end to the fishing war between Britain and Iceland. Britain agreed to accept the 12-mile fishing limit around the island nation but British trawlers will be allowed to fish six miles offshore for the next three years. The agreement, announced Monday night, must be ratified by parliaments of both nations.

Rocky Suspends Delaware's DA

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller today suspended the Delaware County district attorney and ordered a grand jury investigation of charges that the district attorney took game illegally.

The district attorney, Richard H. Farley of Delhi, was superseded by Clare J. Hoyt of Walden, by order of Rockefeller and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz. The investigation is to begin March 6 in state supreme court in Delaware County. Rockefeller designated Judge John F. Dwyer of Buffalo, state supreme court justice in the eighth judicial district, to conduct the proceedings. Rockefeller said the request for the investigation came from Farley himself. Farley is a Republican, as is Rockefeller.

In naming Hoyt to supersede Farley, Lefkowitz said: "I gave given Mr. Hoyt but one direction: To conduct an immediate investigation within the scope of the governor's directive and to bring this matter to a prompt conclusion. I am certain he will carry out expeditiously and effectively his task and will see that all of the facts are impartially disclosed." Hoyt, former Orange County district attorney, practices law in Newburgh. He is a resident of Walden.

Glenrie Club Has First Place Tie

The teams of Mr. and Mrs. Harold King of Kingston and Alvin Brooks and Daniel Ettinger of Poughkeepsie tied for first place with a 57% game in the regular fractional point game of the Glenrie Bridge Club, held at Ridgeley Casino in Stone Ridge.

Third place went to Emil Jensen and Earl Yohnell of Poughkeepsie with a 53% game. There was a tie for fourth between Dr. Paul Perlman of Woodstock and Herbert Freed of New York and Miss Dorothy Maroon and Dr. Habeeb Maroon of Kingston. They posted a 52% game.

Aide of Wagner Questions Poll, Disputes Fairness

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner's executive secretary, commenting today on a report of a political poll unfavorable to the mayor, said, "It doesn't look like a fair poll to me."

Frank Doyle, the Wagner aide, called the poll an "orphan" for which nobody wants to accept responsibility.

Doyle made the statement when asked for comment on a story in the New York Times reporting on a citywide poll taken by the Democratic leadership in mid-January. Wagner has not announced whether he will seek a third four-year term next fall. He recently called for the resignation of Carmine G. DeSapio, democratic national committeeman and leader of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan party organization. The mayor, however, has not announced any alignment with the party insurgent group which has been fighting DeSapio for more than two years.

The Times story reported in part:

In the citywide postcard survey, only 12 per cent of the enrolled Democrats polled checked "Yes" when asked the question: "Would you support Mayor Wagner if he decided to run again?" For the third time Monday, DeSapio denied the existence of any such poll.

The Democratic leadership is planning to take another poll within the next 60 days. A decision on whether to institute a Democratic primary fight for the mayoralty will be made on the basis of the findings then.

In this situation, party leaders battling with Wagner say that he can lay claim to automatic resignation only if he is loyal to the party. They contend he is not.

Burdens Leave Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Retiring U.S. Ambassador William S. Burden and Mrs. Burden left today by plane on their way home.

Shaw and Ricevulo were accused last July of disregarding regulations of the Civil Service Commission and of deliberately misleading the board of supervisors on commission matters.

County attorney Sol Kroll said dismissal, which followed two months of investigation, was the only punishment that could be given the men. The board will meet July 1 to name replacements for them. Shaw was a Republican appointee and Ricevulo Democratic.

Redmond to Quit

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The embattled Orleans Parish School Board began casting around today for a new school superintendent.

Dr. James F. Redmond, 45, one of the central characters in the bitter New Orleans desegregation battle, announced Monday night that he would not renew his contract July 1.

Redmond—head of the city's $100-million public school operations for eight years—said he had been offered other opportunities which he couldn't ignore.

Rep. Walter to Retire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., will end a 30-year career in Congress at the end of his present term in 1962.

The 66-year-old chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee said Monday he was retiring because of poor health.

Insured Jobless Hits New Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—State insured unemployment has climbed to a new high for the second week in a row.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security said Monday state insured unemployment was up 32,000 for the week ended Feb. 11.

This brought the total to 3,390,600 and represented 8.4 per cent of the total employed, compared with 8.3 the previous week.

We wouldn't spend one penny
on tea dust.

Why should you?

There's only one thing we want our Salada tea bags to give you: great tea taste. And we know (all tea people know) that there's only one real way to get it: with tea leaves, not tea dust. Tea leaves keep their flavor nicely rolled up and protected until they're dunked (that's why they color slower, too). Tea dust, on the other hand, makes a quick cup of color. But for taste it can't come close—so much flavor is rubbed away before it gets to your cup. At Salada we spend only for choice, rich tea leaves that give you the great taste of tea. Not harsh. Not brash. But smooth. Civilized. And above all, subtle. Settle for dust? Would you?

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 28, 1961

MSGR. MARTIN J. DRURY

The entire community will feel the loss of Monsignor Martin J. Drury, who spent the past 22 years of dedicated service in the religious life of this area and in devoted service in civic endeavors throughout our community.

A community can never measure the influence of a man of his stature, because his influence always will be with us.

On the many occasions he was honored by his fellow citizens for his civic leadership, Monsignor Drury would express his love for his parish and for the City of Kingston. Typical of his feeling was a statement he made in recent years that "in spite of those who have besmirched the noble name of our fair city, I still love Kingston and all its people, both Catholic and non-Catholic alike."

Monsignor Drury inspired his parish and the Deaneys of Ulster and Sullivan Counties and his personal influence extended beyond the bounds of his charge. During his long service here, he made many friends among the people of his own faith and those of other faiths.

Despite his manifold duties as the leader of his church here, he manifested his profound interest in the health and welfare of all the people of the community through his work on the Board of Managers of the Kingston City Laboratory, the Ulster County Health Board and as president Benedictine Hospital Advisory Board.

It is to his credit that by being himself and serving God and his church and his congregation that he made his own place in the affection of his parish and in the public regard.

Like all who rise in the Roman Catholic Church, Monsignor Drury earned the various honors bestowed by the Pope, including that of Protonotary Apostolic. To the church and the religious benefit of the faithful he devoted a long life, which closed in the peace of God.

A LIMITED LOGIC

Cries of "Buy American" reappear on the national scene with a vigor missing since the 1930s. Softness in our domestic economy, coupled with the foreign trade imbalance, have led, more or less reasonably, to these demands.

It is natural for American manufacturers of nuts and bolts, for instance, to ask users in this country to buy their products rather than those of Japan or West Germany. Keep the money circulating within the confines of our borders: this is the rationale of most who support the "Buy American" philosophy.

The argument is a logical one—but only within certain limits. As we all know, trade is a two-way street. Were we to limit our purchases strictly to domestic producers, cries of anguish would arise from American industry that produces over 17 billion dollars (1959 figures) in goods for export. For it is elementary that unless we buy abroad our export business could dry up.

Having said all this it must be admitted that no one knows precisely what is a perfect balance between export and imports. But certainly an over-ardent "Buy American" campaign would have an effect comparable to a steep rise in our tariff rate. This might signal to our friends and allies a retreat to the completely untenable "Fortress America" concept.

HEY! STEAL AMERICAN

As if Detroit isn't disturbed enough now. Here's something new to think about—Western news sources have been supplied with photographs of a new Soviet small car, the first to feature an air-cooled engine in the rear. Instead of being copied after an American model, always the case in the past, the "Zaporozhac" bears a striking resemblance to a popular little Italian car.

Remember when the family farm was the nation's greatest system of social security and greatest bulwark against unemployment?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE PROBLEMS OF CHANGE

Change for change sake is a theory of the accelerated production of goods. If styles, for instance, did not change, a dress might last many years and thousands of persons would be without work. If we ate the same food every day, even if we could stand the monotony, it would impoverish farmers, grocers, restaurant owners, etc.

On the other hand, change must be rational and when we move from one commodity to another, dislocating communities, impoverishing people, we need to know what we are doing. An excellent example of what the substitution of one product for another means in the lives of people is the use of imported residual oil instead of coal. Practically all of the residual oil comes to this country from Venezuela and we are allowing it to come in as a sort of good neighbor policy, just as the American people pay an outlandish price for coffee to please Brazil, Colombia and other coffee-growing countries.

But the importation of residual oil has brought such poverty to the people of the State of West Virginia that they are back in the ugliness of the Depression. Several years ago, I called attention in this column to the peril to the coal industry which was then dying and I was attacked with undue violence by those who said that the world could never do without coal. Increasingly, the world has learned how to substitute other products for coal, just as the day is not distant when atomic energy or some other device, perhaps solar energy, will produce the light and heat and power that we require. But what will become of people? What will they do for a living? Will our society so change that we shall know how to provide for a workless population?

Residual oil is an excellent example of the mischief that can be done to human beings. As Senator Robert C. Byrd said:

"If one does not believe that the results have been tragic, one has only to come to West Virginia to see the results — to see thousands of highly skilled miners unable to obtain work and to see their families existing on a diet that is unbelievably meager."

Coal mine employment has dropped from 125,000 men in 1948 to less than 38,000 now. The reason: coal is not used in 1961 as much as it was in 1948.

Residual oil is not advantageous, except that it is cheaper. In a word, as we become increasingly inventive and increasingly smart in the handling of new chemicals and new devices, shall we throw more and more men and women out of work? This was a question that the Luddites asked in 1811-1816, when they sought to prevent the application of steam to machinery and locomotion. Their answer proved wrong. Machines made jobs. The more machinery, the greater the output, the more jobs became available at higher wages and families lived on an increasingly higher standard of life. This was the moral advantage of the Industrial Revolution.

Have we reached the end of this constructive era? Or are we in a new era, a period of human history which we do not understand and the consequences of which we cannot foresee? No one can prophesy what will be style and fashion of another age. What, for instance, has happened to the great silk industry? Rayon, nylon, orlon and many other products are used as substitutes for various silk and women's products and even for furs. What becomes of the basic industry, silk?

The answer is that we need to recognize that technical changes will produce loss of work, temporarily, it is to be assumed. The fear is that the displacement of workers may become permanent. That would produce social conditions in this country which may not only alter our economy but alter our form of government.

Thus far, all these problems have been handled piece-meal. There has been no over-all policy, no concept of the relationship of change to the social problems of this country. This much one can say with certainty: the American people will never again permit the social conditions produced by 10,000,000 unemployed men and women. It does not matter whether the President is a Republican or a Democrat; the protest against unemployment will transcend politics. This is the most serious problem that faces our people. ★ The Doctor Says ★
Body Transforms All Foods
To Basic 'Building Blocks'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We're certainly a nation of food faddists. Not so long ago, red meat was in disfavor because it was alleged to raise blood pressure and contribute to arterial hardening. Then mixed meals were opposed. We were told to eat our protein foods at one sitting and our starches at another. Next came a big honey boom because, unlike our table sugar, it was a natural product. Soon, salt was replaced on our tables with substitutes. And now, we're to give up butter, cream, bacon and eggs and replace them with synthetics. And not much of those.

Meanwhile the sale of "health foods" and vitamin-mineral supplements goes on apace. It's soiled milk for "auto intoxication"; wheat germ oil for fertility; and, most recently a mayonnaise dressing that can also be rubbed on the face to improve the complexion and remove wrinkles! There is at least one basic fact that gets no consideration at all of this metabolic hocus-pocus. That is the fundamental observation that each substance we eat and digest has first to be broken down in our bodies to what chemists call the "building blocks."

From these relatively simple "blocks," the many factories in these wonderful bodies of ours then construct the substances we require. Just as pigs manufacture bacon fat from swill, and cows produce milk from grain and hay, and sturgeon yield caviar from whatever it is that that fish dine on, so do we construct whatever it is we particularly need at the particular moment.

And the wonder of it all is that what we manufacture bears little resemblance to the raw products that went originally into the hopper. We can do just as well with sweet milk as with soured milk at many times the price.

Just as well with granulated sugar as with honey at many times the cost. And just as well with a mixed meal of proteins and starches as with separate meals for each.

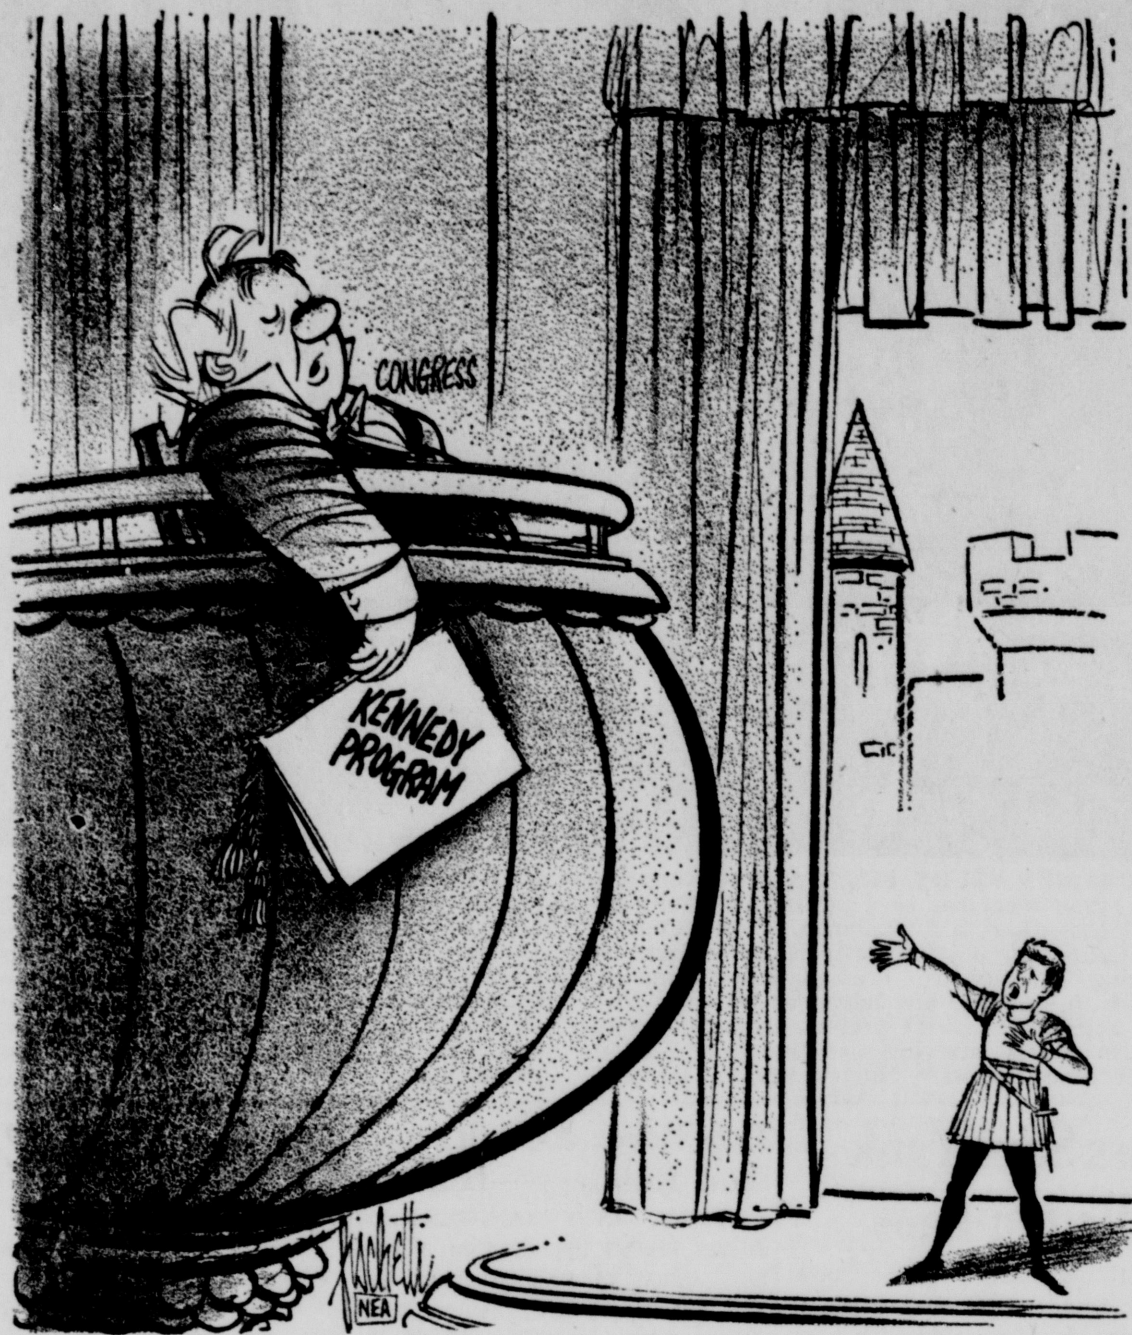

Rarely do I get a letter telling of some persistent complaint or illness, that fails to state that the ailment, of whatever nature, continues despite vitamin "shots" and vitamin-mineral supplementations.

Yet, except for severe vitamin and mineral deficiencies, rarely encountered in healthy persons who consume the average American diet, there is not an illness, complaint or ailment that requires these supplementations or that can be expected to improve as a result of over dosing with these admittedly important accessories to the diet.

If you've been wasting your money on faddist foods, how about making a two-week trial of nothing but dietary staples? Bread and butter; bacon and eggs; cooked cereal, tea or coffee with sugar and cream; meat, fish or poultry with a baked spud and a green and a yellow vegetable; apple pie with a hunk of yellow cheese; a pared apple, a peeled orange and an overripe banana for an encore or between meals; and just plain cow's milk or cocoa to wash it all down?

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Entirely new relationships between federal and state governments may have to be worked out if the Kennedy administration program is to be made effective.

Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg made a start in this direction in his one day meeting here with state labor commissioners. Department of Labor officials spelled out the Kennedy programs on aiding depressed areas, increasing the minimum wage, extending unemployment insurance benefits and coverage.

The 50 state labor officials were given a chance to ask questions and raise objections to provisions in his proposals as they would affect state legislation already in force in these three fields.

GOLDBERG MAKES clear it is not his desire to "federalize" all labor legislation and regulation. He admits this can't be done because the country is too big, too varied and too complex. What he is after is better communication and better coordination between state and federal governments on their mutual problems.

Goldberg carries this one step further with his proposal that state governments should set up their own advisory committees on labor-management policy. They would match the 21-member group named by Kennedy to advance collective bargaining, raise living standards, increase productivity.

Labor is only one field, however, where greater co-operation between state and federal governments can be useful.

It is essential in any federal aid to education which Congress may approve, it is essential in social security extension—particularly in providing medical care of the aged.

Co-operation is also essential for new housing and slum clearance programs, expedited highway construction, reclamation, post office building and other public works proposed by the Kennedy administration to give business a shot in the arm.

The 50 state, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the territories each have different problems in each of these fields. The degree to which they can co-operate is a test of the American government as a federation of states.

If it can't be made to work effectively, the alternatives are to have the federal government run everything or to have the federal government run nothing, with the states cutting each other's throats in unrestrained competition.

THIS IS NO NEW U. S. PROBLEM. It is as old as the Whiskey Rebellion. And in recent years various formulas to work it out.

The F. D. R. formula was to coerce the states to comply with federal policies. The Dwight D. Eisenhower formula was to have the states take voluntary action to bring their activities into line with federal standards.

Eisenhower had a commission on intergovernmental relations working for three years under chairmanship of the late Meyer Kestbaum. It brought forth a number of printed reports which make a stack of books six inches high. But

West Is Seen Standing Idle
As Reds Work to Wreck U.N.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—The Western governments are so preoccupied with what they want to get out of each other, diplomatically and otherwise, that they are missing a big opportunity. They are giving Nikita Khrushchev the stage as he sends letters and messages to sixty-six governments throughout the world in a deliberate effort to either wreck the United Nations or to make it subservient to his wishes.

On the surface, the Moscow government has made it appear that the Secretary General, Dag Hammarskjold, is some sort of assassin who plotted or abetted the murder of Patrice Lumumba.

Actually, the Kremlin isn't very much interested in Mr. Hammarskjold as an individual or as a functionary. What is sought is a means of replacing him with three co-equal members of the Office of Secretary General—each with a veto power. One would be a Communist. In this way, the Soviets want to be able to block the General Assembly in the same way that they have managed to frustrate the Security Council.

Propaganda Gets Through
For several days now, Khrushchev has gotten considerable space in the press and over the air waves as he has blazed away at Mr. Hammarskjold. Yet the Western governments seem to be indifferent to the fact that the Communist dictator is penetrating many parts of the world with his propaganda in his pose as defender of the freedom and independence of small nations.

No counterattack seems to be in the offing. The Soviet government in the world today and would not even let a U. N. mission of observation and inquiry into Hungary in 1957 and 1958 to find out what happened when the people there tried to set up their own government. Maybe Khrushchev sees in the resolutions recently adopted—and supported by him—a means by which the U. N. some day will be passing resolutions to send into Hungary or some of the other colonial states in the Balkans an international army to preserve order or to insure free elections. Maybe he wants the veto power to prevent anything being done by the U. N. to protect Eastern Europe, though he cries out for armed intervention in the Congo by the U. N. to support the Communist-inspired regime which he has recognized as the "legal" government. For the moment he is bent on getting control of the small African nations as he did the Balkan states.

Appeal to Small Nations
The Soviet Union has been accused by implication, of course, of trying to wreck the United Nations if it can't control it. Adlai Stevenson, the American ambassador to the U. N., said pointedly on January 27th at a press conference:

"Attacks on the Secretary General are attacks on the institution itself. I should think that the small powers would rise as one in defense of the institution which is their best protection. The United Nations exists in order that no nation need be powerful in order to be independent and secure."

This is a doctrine that could be widely publicized throughout the smaller countries. But the attacks in the U. N. by the Soviets are not confined merely to bitter criticism of the Secretary General. The Soviets recently engineered a conference of African nations at Casablanca and secured the withdrawal by them of their troop contingents in a move that seriously weakened the U. N. army in the Congo. No condemnation, however, of this palpable case of treason against the U. N. has come from the principal western governments. None has introduced a resolution calling for expulsion of the Soviet Union.

The Moscow government moreover, is carrying on another form of sabotage by refusing to pay its allotted share of the expenses of the U. N. air waves as he has blazed away at Mr. Hammarskjold. Yet the Western governments seem to be indifferent to the fact that the Communist dictator is penetrating many parts of the world with his propaganda in his pose as defender of the freedom and independence of small nations.

No Money for Congo

There is an additional cost of about $116,300,000 a year for the U. N. operations in policing certain areas like the Congo, ordered by formal resolution adopted in the General Assembly, and for refugee and food programs. Soviet Russia has refused to pay a dime toward these expenses, while the United States paid $57,610,000 for these in 1960. The Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe—though each has a vote in the U. N.—have likewise ignored their share of the bill. The Communist countries, for instance, have not paid a cent on the bill the U. N. has incurred in policing the Gaza Strip in order to preserve peace in the Middle East. Usually when a club member fails to pay dues or assessments, he ceases to remain a member.

Meanwhile, the Soviets are spending considerable sums clandestinely arming certain revolutionary forces formerly led by Lumumba. The Communist bloc in Africa headed by Nasser of the United Arab Republic, has given recognition to the government formed by pro-Lumumba forces, notwithstanding the fact that the U. N. Assembly by formal resolution has recognized a different government.

All in all, the Soviet Premier is issuing his tirades and still is shipping munitions by ship and plane to thwart the U. N. What seems puzzling is that the Western governments are letting Khrushchev get away with his game and are failing to take issue with him in the court of world opinion.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It isn't often that a leading lovable character in TV soap opera is permitted to shuffle off this mortal coil. But Mike Karr's wife, Sara, in "Edge of Night" was killed off last week.

The decision was not made lightly. It was precipitated when Teal Ames, who had played Sara since the CBS daytime series started almost five years ago, told her employers she wanted to leave and to accept some other acting assignments.

"We could have done the usual thing—sent Sara away on a long trip (at least six weeks) and had another actress pick up the part," explained the advertising agency man who produces the program for the sponsor. "But this would not have been satisfactory. We decided to make it quick and clean, not one of those 17-week illnesses."

So on Monday Feb. 20, Sara was struck down while trying to snatch her infant daughter from the path of an oncoming car. She died on Wednesday, after a poignant farewell scene with her loving husband. That consumed only three scripts—the twinkling of an eye by soap-opera standard.

Now the script writer is busily exploring new territory in which to place Mike Karr, suddenly transformed from happy husband into an eligible young widower with an infant child.

Expectedly, when Sara died, switchboards of TV stations all over the nation were deluged with calls.

"Most of the callers just asked 'What did you have to kill Sara for?'" the producer explained. "But you'd be surprised how sophisticated television audiences are today. A lot of them wanted to know just why we had fired Teal Ames."

We're a fast moving people. This year one American in five will change his residence; 33 million of us will move to another home.

Labor mobility follows the pattern. It's estimated that 8.5 million people a year leave one employer to work for another. New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, in its bulletin "Business In Brief," points out that almost 50 per cent of these job switches involve a change to a different industry and a different occupation. Another 20 per cent shift to a different industry but perform the same type of job while 8 per cent move into a different type of job in the same industry.

Work histories of more than three million persons covering a decade showed that two-thirds changed jobs at least once in that period and that more than a quarter changed jobs three times or more.

Young people do more job switching than older folk. Those in the 25-34 age group are twice as likely to change jobs and residences than either younger or older people.

WHAT HAVE THESE shifts meant geographically to the family income dollar?

A partial answer is offered in "Money Matters" issued by the Institute of Life Insurance. It reports:

The wealth of rural nonfarm families is on the increase while that of urban and farm families is on the decline. In 1950, the urban family had 71.5 cents of the family income dollar. Ten years later it had but 65.3 cents.

The rural nonfarm family had 19.2 cents of the family income dollar in 1950, 28.1 cents of it 10 years later. The farm family had 9.4 cents of the family income dollar in 1950, only 6.6 cents of it 10 years later.

The number of families living in urban areas increased by 1.8 million between 1950 and 1959. In the same period, the rural nonfarm family increased by 4.3 million, while the number of families on farms declined by 893,000.

As you move from area to area, as you change jobs, keep careful watch over your personal affairs. Make certain that: You leave a forwarding address with the local post office.

You change your address on all insurance policies. Check to see how soon any new group or health insurance policies become effective.

Don't forget that small savings account that you or junior might have opened years ago. Take it with you.

Make certain the Social Security Administration knows of your new job or residence. This may be a good time to check whether you are receiving full credit on your earnings. Mail your request to the Social Security Administration, Baltimore 35, Md., giving account number, birth date and address.

Make certain you get W-2 forms for federal income taxes from your former employer. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Your new weight control program . . . a balanced food that tastes good

For the first time, here is a balanced food for your weight control program so delicious you'd almost expect it to add pounds! Choose either of two luscious flavors: smooth chocolate, delicate vanilla. Choose both, and change off!

And enjoy extra convenience: just stir one packet of Subtract in a cup of water for a single delicious serving. No measuring, no muss. So easy to carry in pocket or purse to use, wherever you might be.

Cartons contain either one or three-day supplies for a 900-calorie diet. Four packets, one day's supply, provide protein, vitamins and minerals in amounts that meet or exceed the average man's minimum daily requirements. Use it as your complete day's food intake, one packet to replace each meal, a fourth as a late-evening snack. Or for more leisurely weight loss, substitute Subtract for just one or two meals a day.

The overweight person who undertakes a weight control program should consult his doctor concerning his general health, the speed at which reduction should be accomplished, and the final weight which is desirable.

Each packet contains a quarter of your day's food requirements with only 225 calories.
Available in cartons of one or three-day supplies for the 900-calorie dieter.

President's Press Talks on Russian TV

Soviet Informs People Nikita May Visit U. S., See Kennedy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has let the Soviet people know that Premier Khrushchev is thinking of a return visit to the United Nations and the possibility of a meeting with President Kennedy while in the United States.

Films of two of the President's news conferences were shown on television Monday night, including newsmen's questions to Kennedy on whether he would meet Khrushchev if the Soviet premier visits the U. N. General Assembly opening next Tuesday. Kennedy replied only that he hadn't heard yet whether Khrushchev was coming.

The showing of the films was an unprecedented gesture. It also was the first time that the Soviet people learned that a new Khrushchev visit to the United Nations is possible.

Such ideas are rarely put in the public mind unless they are likely to become accomplished facts. Kennedy's statement gave the Soviet public the impression that the initiative for a visit is up to the Soviet Union and that Khrushchev would be welcome in the United States.

(Soviet diplomats in Washington have been active in spreading the idea that Khrushchev would like to make a visit, and diplomatic circles in the U. S. capital have said they would not be surprised if Khrushchev comes to the United States late in April, when the assembly session will be winding up.)

Televising of the conferences here also coincides with the return of U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson from talks with Kennedy in Washington.

The ambassador is carrying a message from the President reportedly expressing his full confidence in Thompson and hope that talks between the envoy and Khrushchev will result in better relations between Washington and Moscow.

GOP Bill Favors Expanded Strike Powers for JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican senators today urged an expansion of the President's authority in the case of a strike affecting the nation's health and safety.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York and George D. Aiken of Vermont said the bill they planned to introduce in the Senate today would cover crises such as the recent airlines dispute, the transportation tieup in the rail-truck industry and the 1959 steel strike.

The bill provides that when strikes affect the national health and safety, the President—when other machinery for settlement is inadequate—may declare a national emergency and direct the attorney general to seek a court-appointed special receiver to take possession of the affected facilities. The receiver would continue operation until the strike was settled.

The bill would amend both Taft-Hartley and the Railway Labor Act. The President would be authorized to appoint a public fact-finding board to make recommendations for a settlement. Following issuance of the recommendations, a 30-day "cooling off" period would be enforced, during which time no legal strike could be called.

If this procedure failed, the President would then be able to seek the court-appointed receiver.

Two Urge State Check Criminal, Labor Group Tie

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Two Republican legislators proposed today that the state investigate what they termed "the control and influence of criminal elements in labor organizations operating in this state."

Assemblyman Edwin E. Mason of Hobart and Sen. Dutton S. Peterson of Schuylerville County, said recent congressional hearings and "continual newspaper disclosures demonstrate the existence of a widespread infiltration of organized criminal elements into labor organizations."

The proposed investigation would recommend "remedial legislation to remove this web of evil and return to employees the control of their own organizations."

The committee would consist of three senators and three assemblymen and would have a $50,000 appropriation.

Seoul Approves U.S. Aid Pact

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The National Assembly today overwhelmingly ratified the new U. S.-South Korean aid agreement as thousands of students demonstrated against the pact in Taegu, the nation's third largest city.

The agreement, bitterly criticized by some Koreans as an infringement on South Korea's sovereignty, went into effect immediately. The legislature's upper house approved it 34-0, the lower house 133-1.

The total bill, before the deduction, was $79,608.24. Advance payments have been made for the past four years. (Freeman photo).

Republican Says Williams Fires Unrest in Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, "has been adding fuel to the fires of African unrest" in his tour of that continent, Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., charges.

Miller urged President Kennedy Monday to recall Williams before, according to Miller, "he spreads more hoof-in-mouth disease."

Miller, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, called the former Michigan governor "a bumptious, tactless, unskilled representative."

Williams, in Kenya last week, touched off a furor, especially among the British, with a statement of "Africa for the Africans." With State Department backing, Williams explained he had not meant a specific race, rather Africa for all people who make their home there.

Williams, former governor of Michigan, was in the turbulent Congo today.

Of Williams' tour, Miller said in a statement: "His activities abroad are an unfortunate example of the folly of appointing political leftovers to sensitive, important posts in government."

Phoenicia Woman In Greene Mishap Is Reported Fair

Doris Umhay, 42, of Phoenicia, one of five persons injured early Sunday morning in a two-car crash in the Town of Hunter, was reported in fair condition today at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

According to Leeds state police the Phoenicia woman suffered lacerations of the scalp, possible fractured skull, contusions of the left eye and lacerations of the left leg. Four others in the mishap were reported fair in the hospital.

A passenger in the Umhay vehicle, Estelle O'Deffe, 74, of Tannersville, suffered possible fractured ribs, lacerations of the right hand and shock, troopers said.

State police said the Umhay sedan was in collision with a car driven by Leonard F. Totten, 20, of Elka Park on Route 23A, about one-half of a mile west of the intersection of Route 214 in Hunter.

Totten sustained fractured ribs and was suffering from shock, troopers said.

Three passengers in the Totten vehicle injured in the mishap, according to state police, were Jack Goram, 24, of Hensonville; Stephen Vanuch, 17; and Allen Meigs, 18, both of Tannersville, Greene County.

Congo Regimes

vehicles for pleasure trips in the city was barred.

The United Nations said Giza's soldiers who reached Luluabourg, originally estimated at 350, now were reported to be about 150. Apparently disgruntled, the soldiers pulled out north, leaving their commander in the lurch. He took asylum at U. N. headquarters.

The spearhead that had advanced from Luluabourg and was reported Monday to have crossed into Leopoldville province also seemed to have vanished. The soldiers from Stanleyville, where political heirs of slain Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba have their headquarters, occupied Luluabourg last Friday after traveling halfway across the Congo. Luluabourg lies about 500 miles east of Leopoldville. Advance units had pushed 100 miles or more toward the capital.

Rebels Lose Heart

U. N. reports said the rebels appeared to have lost heart after being ordered off the Luluabourg airport by Ghanian soldiers of the United Nations. In addition, a U. N. spokesman said, they seemed to have become suspicious of negotiations going on between their own officers and officers of the Luluabourg garrison. The airport incident started Monday when a detachment of the original Congolese garrison turned up demanding a share in the guard duties.

The airport was then being manned jointly by Ghanian U. N. soldiers and a detachment of the Stanleyville soldiers.

The Ghanians refused to let units of both Congolese factions stay at the airport.

"So they requested them all to leave," the U. N. spokesman said. The military pact signed today brings together the squabbling anti-Communist leaders in the Congo — at least for the time being.

Provides Needed Aid

An agreement signed in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, provides badly needed aid for Kasavubu's disorganized forces.

It was signed by Premier Joseph Ileo, who represented Kasavubu's Leopoldville government; Albert Kalonji, leader of the mining state of South Kasai, and Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Under terms of the pact they will pool their troops to combat the "Communist dictatorial regime" of Giza in Stanleyville. Permanent contacts for both military and political cooperation are to be set up.

Kasavubu has the most to gain from the agreement. Tshombe's 5,000 well-paid soldiers are the Congo's best-trained and supplied and are led by Belgian officers who can coordinate strategy. Kalonji has about 1,000 soldiers and an undetermined number of Baluba tribesmen.

The Leopoldville government's 7,500 men are scattered and disorganized. Kasavubu called for general mobilization Monday in an attempt to strengthen his forces.

Rebels Spread Out

Giza's soldiers, numbering between 5,000 and 7,000, are spread out in the sections of the Congo—more than one-third of the country—his regime controls. Tshombe also has reinforced his military posture by calling off his agreement with the United Nations to suspend military action and resuming, as he put it, Katanga's "freedom of action."

Buying Low Priced Stocks

No Guarantee Big Profit

Q "I am interested in buying shares in the food line. I've been watching General Foods, but it's a little too high for my purse. Can you recommend a low-priced food stock that looks good?" G. H.

A I believe you have picked a fine industry in which to invest. But by limiting yourself to low-priced stocks, you automatically deprive yourself of some of the strongest issues.

Most investors seem to believe that the lower a stock's price, the greater is their chance for profits. But this is not necessarily so, particularly in the advanced stages of a bull market.

One reason for the popularity of low-priced issues is that it is easier to picture a stock moving from 10 to 15 than it is from 60 to 90, both of which represent 50 per cent increases. Actually, both stocks will move ahead at the same rate if their growth prospects are equal.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels paced a churning stock market advance early this afternoon on the heavy trading in years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 to 239.10 with industrials up 1.30, rails up .40 and utilities off .10.

On average, the gain was moderate and was accompanied by considerable profit taking and switching. Huge blocks of stock were traded.

The ticker tape fell as much as 18 minutes behind transactions — the greatest lag since Feb. 29, 1956 when it was 19 minutes behind trading. The tape remained late into the afternoon. First-hour volume was 1.18 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.21 to 662.65. Corporate bonds were higher. U. S. governments declined in quiet trading.

40 PC Population Rise by '70: Swartzmiller

Mid-Hudson to Be Fastest Growing Area of U.S., Methodist Men Told

Members of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Men's Club at a meeting Monday night were told by W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional director of the New York State Department of Commerce that the mid-Hudson area "will be the fastest growing area in the nation, with an anticipated 40 per cent increase in population by 1970."

The speaker contended that if the trend continues there will be 19 million in New York State alone within 10 years, but he added, "this growth will bring problems as well as good times." He said that of the six counties in the mid-Hudson region, Dutchess County appears to be the fastest growing with Orange keeping a close second, according to tabulations.

River Traffic to Gain

Swartzmiller said many new roads, superhighways, jetports and mono-rairoads will be constructed in the near future, in addition to greatly increased traffic on the Hudson River. He indicated that Ulster County's lack of skilled workers and its geographical position will continue to be a hindrance to its rapid growth as compared to those counties nearer the metropolitan area.

Replying to a question as to whether an increased number of aggregate products companies entering Ulster County would be in the long run beneficial and conducive to its best interests, Swartzmiller said, it is time now to think about establishing controls and adopting zoning laws which would protect the county from being overrun with unwanted industries.

Water Supply Problem

The regional director emphasized that "our water supply will be another problem." He stated that he expects 70 per cent more young people to enter colleges.

After the speaker concluded his talk, the Clinton Avenue team of the YMCA Federation of Protestant Church bowling leagues, through its captain, Arthur G. Crist, presented the club with the recently won trophy awarded for winning the inter-league tournament. It was noted that Crist, James Raymond, Chester Weeks and Harold Pine have bowled together as a church team for some 15 years.

Clarence Dederick, treasurer of the Methodist Men, was in charge of the meeting. William Merrill led the group in songs, and Thomas Hahs led the devotionary service. Alex Arcus, vice president, was in charge of the business session, and George Edwards was in charge of refreshments. Thomas W. Miller introduced the speaker.

Mayor Told Signs

placed to obstruct the view and create a terrible appearance" for years to come.

State Public Works Superintendent J. Burch McMorran, in reply contended that "when completed and painted an aluminum color, with the colorful reflective sign panels in place, they will be wholly presentable and acceptable."

The signs, he said, are of standard design "begin used all over the state and are in conformance with the uniform signing manual that must be complied with throughout the United States." He added that since "this is a going contract no changes can be made."

Paul F. Royster, of the federal department, in his reply, said he felt the state department "has studied the problems for years, and we feel sure that the aesthetic aspects of sign installation receive full consideration."

2 Would Amend

by public employees in recent years, notably in New York City, the discharge provisions of the Condon-Wadlin act have not been invoked in most cases.

Mahoney and Condon said that it had become apparent that "many heads of government have been reluctant to invoke the law because of the feeling penalties were too severe."

The proposed amendment calls for a three-stage grievance procedure.

Employees first would present complaints to their immediate superior. If not satisfied, they could go to the head of their governmental agency or an official designated to hear complaints. The final resort would be to a three-member grievance board appointed by the mayor or chief executive officer of the governmental unit.

Complaints would be limited to working conditions. Salaries, fringe benefits, and disciplinary proceedings would not be allowed as grievance issues.

The state now has such grievance machinery and this would meet terms of the proposed amendment. New York City has grievance procedures for most of its 240,000 employees.

Group Interviews

and Robert O'Reilly, vice-president, expire at that time. The nine-member board serves without compensation. Terms are for five years.

The committee is seeking two candidates, one for each of two posts on the board of education.

Persons interested in submitting their names for consideration as prospective candidates are invited to do so and may obtain application forms by writing to Post Office Box 181, Rondout Station, Kingston.

According to the by-laws of the committee each has a definite obligation to assist the selected candidates in campaigning for election and must give of his time and effort "if there is a contested election."

Abraham Streifer of Hurley, chairman of the committee presided.

Fire Sprinkler

continuity of education in local school districts.

The law, if passed, would become effective July 1, 1962.

Reiterated by Coroner

Chief Brett noted that proposals in the resolution "were unanimously reiterated in a coroner's jury report handed up following the Chicago school fire."

He added in an appeal to the Legislature that the bill "will guarantee forever that such a ghastly tragedy as that of Chicago would never be visited upon school children within this state."

The installation of sprinklers, he said, connected to a municipal fire alarm system and the particular school's evacuation alarm system, is "the highest form of fire protection as well as the least expensive."

Mr. Schneider is pastor of the Jeffersonville Lutheran Church and of the E&R Reformed Church. He spends his summers at Cape Pond, Ellenville, and has preached at the Ellenville church.

Levitt Backing Power Authority For Atom Work

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has charged that Gov. Rockefeller's coolness to proposals for state-developed atomic power is "not in the best interests of the state."

Levitt, a Democrat, Monday night backed an appeal by State Power Authority Chairman Robert Moses for legislation to allow the authority to step into the atomic power field. Law now limits the authority to development of power from water.

Rockefeller, a Republican, said last week that the state already had enough power. The governor said private utilities were looking into the atomic power field.

Levitt told the annual dinner of the Niagara County Democratic Organization that natural sources of power in the state were almost completely developed.

"I think it is wrong for the governor and his office of atomic energy to refuse the power authority's request in this regard," Levitt said.

The State Office of Atomic Energy recently declined to endorse the SPA's bid to enter the atomic power field.

W. Camp Man Addresses RPI Fraternity Fete

Nelson G. Burhans, West Camp, was the principal speaker at the spring weekend banquet for the RPI Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity Saturday evening at the Crossroads Restaurant, Latham. Burhans is province supervisor for TKE in New York State with supervision over chapters at Buffalo, Rochester, Cornell, Colgate, Hamilton, Hartwick, RPI and Wagner colleges.

Speaking before 200 guests Burhans challenged the college students and professors to choose between "Initiative or Inertia." He said, "all too often the only exercise the minds of college students receive is jumping to conclusions, running down their friends, pushing their luck and side-stepping responsibility."

Spring Weekend (Saturnalia, as it is called) is the most festive weekend at RPI next to Homecoming. Hundreds of alumni and guests visit the campus of RPI—one of the top rated engineering colleges in the country. The local chapter of TKE Fraternity was chartered in 1948 and in 1959 was the recipient of the Top TKE Chapter Award.

Stillwell New Commandant of West Point Cadets

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Monday named Col. Richard G. Stillwell as commandant of cadets at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. Stillwell, who was nominated for the temporary rank of brigadier general Feb. 6, will assume command in July. Brig. Gen. Charles W. G. Rich will be reassigned.

Kennedy Says Wagner Incapable of Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy says Mayor Robert F. Wagner is unaware of the city's problems and incapable of making decisions.

The mayor's answer to problems, Kennedy says, is "words, words, and more words."

"But," he added, "there comes a time when you want action." Kennedy's new criticism of Wagner was made Monday night in a speech before 100 persons at a dinner meeting of the City Club of New York.

It was Kennedy's first public appearance since his dramatic refusal to accept reappointment early last Thursday. Kennedy and Wagner had a dispute over policies affecting the police department.

In the dinner speech Kennedy discounted suggestions that he might be a candidate in next fall's mayoral campaign, in which Wagner may run.

"I am no politician," Kennedy said.

He indicated, however, that if he were approached he would talk with representatives of a fusion movement or other political groups.

"I will talk with any one," he said.

The 54-year-old former commissioner, who is eligible for a police pension of $13,836 a year, said he has no immediate plans for the future.

National Gypsum Has Big Sales, Profit Drop

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—National Gypsum Co. Monday reported a drop in earnings last year despite record sales.

The company reported net earnings of $23,492,998, equal to $3.66 a share as compared with 1959 earnings of $25,561,679 or $4.56 a share. Sales in 1960 total $227,169,246 compared with $226,277,803 in 1959, the company said.

Chairman Melvin H. Baker blamed the drop in profits on a decline in home buildings.

Cornell Coed Loses Hand in Plane Mishap

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The spinning propeller of a small airplane cut the right hand and hip of a 19-year-old Cornell University coed Monday. Her hand had to be amputated in a hospital.

Police said Madeline Leston of New York City accidentally stepped into the path of the propeller as she walked to the single-engine plane for a pleasure ride with three other students.

She had been aboard but discovered she had forgotten her glasses in her automobile. The accident at the Tompkins County Airport occurred as she returned with the glasses.

Milk Promotion Will Be Done by $750,000 in 1961

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A milk-promotion effort in New York-Northern New Jersey will be financed with $750,000 this year, more than triple the 1960 funds.

Directors of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council of New York approved the program at their annual meeting Monday. The national association will contribute $300,000 of the budget.

A spokesman said an increase in the number of dairymen supporting promotion of their product made it possible to step up the campaign. Last year, $212,612 was spent on promotion, directors said.

Killed in Fall

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Carlin, 37, of Little Falls, fell 50 feet to his death from the top of a tree Monday. State Police said Carlin's safety belt apparently broke while he worked on branches.

Carlin was a partner in the City Tree Service Co. of Herkimer.

Reds Playing Cautious Game

Small Chile Wealth Class Stands in Path of Reform

EDITOR'S NOTE — Part of Chile is almost 6,000 miles from Washington. But the things going on in this most distant of Latin American neighbors may soon have repercussions in the United States, for the left is or the march in Chile. This dispatch is the latest of a series of Latin American reports by William L. Ryan.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — An aggressive combination of Communists and Castro admirers is showing its strength in Chile. It even may be edging toward power.

Ask a wealthy or upper-middle-class Chilean about this, and he replies with a shrug: "After all, they're Chileans first."

Chile's small well-to-do class stands stubbornly in the way of reform. Because most Chileans are tolerant, peace-loving and law-abiding, upper-class elements seem confident there is little to fear from the extreme left's rising strength.

Must Accept Reforms

But highly qualified outside observers say Chile's rich either must submit to broad social, economic, and agricultural reforms or be swept aside in an angry tide of rebellion.

These observers say this would have been so even if there had been no Fidel Castro in Cuba.

The Cuban revolution gave the left in Chile added momentum. Castroism, in fact, forced the Communist hand.

The small but tightly organized and disciplined Communist party in Chile had been playing a cautious game. It had used the classic approach of allying itself with the middle classes. It had announced itself in favor of nondisputed things and had avoided emphasis on seizure and nationalization. It won wide support from impatient young intellectuals.

Sets New Pattern

Castroism's rise set a new pattern. The Castroist Socialists demanded action, swift and violent. To capitalize on the impact of Castro, the Communists openly had to confess their all-out Communist aims.

Communists, extremist Socialists and a non-Marxist splinter party joined in the FRAP—Frente Accion Popular or Popular Action Front. Even before Castro took power they came within 40,000

Employers Meet On ILGWU Pact; Strike Possible

NEW YORK (AP) — Five employer associations met today to consider a proposed new contract covering 90,000 women's dress workers of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in nine states.

A union spokesman has said there would be a strike if management officials did not approve the pact by midnight tonight.

The tentative contract, raising wages by about 5½ per cent, has been approved by union representatives.

Shop chairmen representing 60,000 New York workers gave their OK Monday. The agreement was approved Monday night by out-of-town delegates.

The workers involved are employed in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, Maryland and Delaware.

The employer associations meeting today to decide whether to ratify the agreement represent 685 jobbers and manufacturers and 1,603 contractors.

Three Hungarians To Be Deported After Jail Term

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Three Hungarian nationals will be deported after serving 30-day jail terms for entering the United States illegally.

The three — Rose Toma, 21; Maria Mohacsy, 20, and Sandor Szajko, 29, all of Toronto—pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court Monday to entering this country illegally from Canada. They were ordered to serve the terms in the Madison County jail at Wampsville.

The U.S. Border Patrol arrested the three and Ronald MacInnes, 25, of Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 2 at Massena.

MacInnes was indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of aiding the three enter the country illegally.

Lions Ladies Night

Two events featured at the meeting of the Lions Club Monday night were the Ladies Night and the official visit of District Governor Frank Sears of Middletown, guest speaker. He spoke on Lincoln.

The local club presented Mr. Sears with a check to be given to the eye bank fund at Middletown. The amount of the check came from sales of fruit cakes sold by club members early in the season.

A dinner preceded the talk and was followed by dancing with music provided by Angelo Filocco, Truckers Corners.

Among those attending were club president Philip Messina and Mrs. Messina, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berean, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jansen, Phillip DiStasi and guest, Mrs. Frank Marrone, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Trapani. The ladies were given valentines. The next meeting will be March 6.

Community Notes

Miss Marjorie Mellor, assistant director of nursing service in the Albany Medical Center, was called here Monday by the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Mellor. Funeral services were held here Thursday. Burial will be in Inglewood, Calif. Mr. Mellor who had been associated with the Hudson River Pure Food Co., died while spending the winter in Inglewood in 1958.

The Home Demonstration Unit meets tonight in the central school when Mrs. Losink, Modena, will be a guest. She sponsored the local unit, Mrs. Alvin Stiller, who starts a class in the making of aluminum trays next month will explain the beginning lessons.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zehner spent Tuesday night and Wednesday with friends in Hamden, Conn., and Friday left for the weekend in Essex Junction, Vt. On their return Sunday they helped celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Zehner's mother, Mrs. John D'Agostino, Milton.

The Parent-Teacher Association is arranging a dance March 11 at the Oddo House.

Man Is Suicide, Was Sought for Hit-Run Mishap

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP)—Clifford E. Snyder, who was wanted in connection with a hit-and-run automobile accident, died early today of gunshot wounds that state police said were self-inflicted Sunday night.

Snyder, 44, of Heuvelton, a father of four, had been in critical condition at Hepburn Hospital, where he died. Troopers said he shot himself in the abdomen with a 12-gauge shotgun.

Beverly Cutway, 18, of Heuvelton, the victim of the automobile accident, is in the same hospital with a broken leg and back.

The girl was walking along Route 87 near Heuvelton Saturday night, when a car driven by Snyder struck her, troopers said. The roads were extremely icy at the time, they said.

Snyder would have been charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a license, police said.

Big Population Rise Likely for Orange, Others

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP)—The Regional Plan Association predicts a 50 per cent population increase within the next 25 years in sections of a three-state area around metropolitan New York.

The group also forecasts increased job opportunities for residents of the areas.

These findings, based on a study by Harvard University under the association's sponsorship, were made public Monday at its annual three-day meeting.

Present were 40 senior business executives who were told that the growth areas would include Orange, Rockland, Dutchess and Putnam counties in New York State.

Lawyer Goofs 10 Persons Show Up for Auction, At 2 A.M. Time

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Ever hear of an auction sale in a county court house at 2 o'clock in the morning?

They almost had one at Rensselaer County Court House today. Up for bidding was 67 acres of land. A public notice of the auction as carried recently in local newspapers listed the time of the auction as 2 o'clock in the forenoon.

Atty. Leslie F. Couch of Albany, said he was responsible for the error. He meant to write after-noon.

Couch and Referee Kenneth G. Orvis arrived at the court house and found 10 persons waiting.

Two people said they wanted to bid.

But Orvis postponed the auction until 2 p. m. today when Couch advised him that legally the land could be sold only between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

• BRIDGE • Nothing Works in Some Hands

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South's four spade contract is so normal that practically any pair that held the North and South cards would arrive there automatically.

The fact that South has no play for the contract does not mean that the bidding has been bad, but merely that until you can look at all 52 cards you can't be sure of what you want to do.

West has a normal opening lead of the king of hearts and East will drop "his lowest," the four spot. With three hearts East does not want a heart continuation. Now all West has to do to beat the hand is to shift to any other suit. Eventually, East will get the lead with the ace of diamonds and lay down the jack of hearts and the defense will gather in four tricks.

Is there anything South can do to coax a heart continuation? Yes!

South should play the eight of hearts from his hand. Now West will wonder where the deuce is. He will know that South or East holds it, but he won't know which one. If East holds the deuce it will mean that he has asked for a heart continuation.

The chances are that West will suspect a false-card and will shift, but if South meekly drops the deuce of hearts at trick one West will have no trouble finding the right play.

528 at Cornell Petition Against Probe Committee

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—More than 500 students and professors at Cornell University have signed a petition advocating abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee, a student group claims.

Copies of the petition will be sent to congressmen, Charles Haynie, a graduate student from Queens, said.

Of 528 signatures gathered through Monday night, 52 were from professors, the student group said.

The drive followed the showing of the controversial film, "Operation Abolition," in downtown Ithaca earlier this month. The movie depicts student demonstrations against committee hearings in California. Critics claim the movie implied the demonstrations were Communist-inspired.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Hopes that the current business slump may be reversed—whether in April or in June—are rising today.

They are still just hopes. But they are built on studies of three ways the economy usually works its way out of any recession. They are:

1. Government spending. This is both in the short-term area of more spending money for the distressed, and in the long-term field of projected spending for larger projects.
2. Business spending. This can be in the immediate area of new orders linked with sales promotion and stepped-up production, or in the longer term area of spending for plants and equipment.
3. Increased consumer buying. Consumers often are the last to change their ways. Business usually has turned the corner and is well on the way to upgrade again before the consumer shakes off his caution and decides to spend rather than save.

This caution still rules, according to a survey by the Federal Reserve Board. This indicates that fewer families now than a year ago plan to buy new houses or home appliances, although slightly more expect to buy new or used cars.

But the survey was taken in January when uncertainty was at its peak. Not only did most people feel at a loss to assay business prospects, but few had any clear notion what to expect when the new administration took over from the old in Washington.

A few positive signs that business was looking up again could change consumer attitudes quickly. And personal income totals are still high, if slightly below their peak, and total savings on which to draw are at a record.

In the area of business itself caution still rules actions but reviving confidence is showing at least in the talking and planning stages.

Some prime producers are reporting a slight upward trend in new orders. This could be because stocks have been trimmed to the limit and it's a question of ordering or stop producing. But it could be because sales prospects look better and industry is getting ready for more business in the spring.

In government spending, pump priming seems a sure thing. Just how much is still a question. And just how effective it will be is a matter of sharp debate.

But government spending is sure to rise in some degree. State and local spending continue to rise of their own momentum. The federal government has speeded up spending of money already earmarked to get more cash quickly into channels where it is supposed to circulate freely.

Longer-term spending proposals—for education, for natural resource development, for permanent increases in unemployment benefits, medical care, minimum wages—are meeting much opposition in and out of Congress.

Opponents think they will do more harm in the long run than good. They fear a revival of inflation, which would rob the economy of the pump priming benefits.

But proponents say they will nudge the economy out of its slump. The nudge could do the trick—provided it inspired a revival of business and consumer confidence.

AT SCHOLAR'S, Low Prices Are Just the Beginning!

When You Shop Appliances ... Shop the Dealer, Too!

During the guaranteed life of an appliance the customer is "married" to the dealer. She is dependent on the dealer to provide the installation, maintenance and repair service—under the guarantees and beyond the guarantees—to keep her appliances running happily. Sure, prices are important. Our prices are as low as anywhere in town—lower than most. But loud claims about unbeatable prices won't repair a balky appliance. It takes service — and parts. This Apartment Is Tailored to Elderly

Refrigerators set on 14-inch platforms, making stooping unnecessary.

Doors with easily clutched handles, instead of knobs.

Showers with Alaskan cedar seats.

These are among 36 special features which the Housing Authority of San Antonio, Tex., incorporated into that city's Victoria Plaza. This nine-story, 185-unit, low-rent apartment development was designed by Thomas B. Thompson for people past 60.

I saw a reproduction of a Victoria Plaza apartment at the National Housing Center, Washington, D. C. The exhibit was arranged in connection with the White House Conference on Aging.

Located less than a mile from the center of San Antonio, the apartment building is in the shape of a modified T, with cross ventilation for each unit.

Two of the self-service elevators have special safety devices. Corridors have four-foot-high railings. Doors are extra-wide and have no thresholds, to accommodate wheel chairs.

Sixteen of the apartments have two bedrooms. Another 16 are efficiencies. The rest, one bedroom. All are so designed that each can be made into one large room. A screen covered with easily cleaned vinyl fabric separates the kitchen area from the living room.

Shelves and light fixtures are low. So, it isn't necessary to climb to change a bulb. Switches, base plugs and TV outlets are at a convenient height.

The dining table is by the window. The bed is so located that a wheel chair has direct access to the bath. There is a night light between bedroom and bathroom. There is a heat lamp in the ceiling.

Window sills are low, so that a bedridden person may have a view.

In addition to a shower seat, bathroom features include a shower without curb and with tempered glass doors that permit water speed and heat to be adjusted before entering the shower; grab bars and emergency bell.

Another alarm bell is in the corridor roof at each apartment. Still other Victoria Plaza assets are acoustical ceiling, nonslip floors, conveyor cabinets at windows to provide safe heat and a shelf for knickknacks and plants and a generous amount of storage space, with as much as possible at middle height.

Q—My dad passed away in 1957. Both my mother and brother receive social security checks. Will one or both checks stop when my brother reaches 18?—Mrs. J. R.

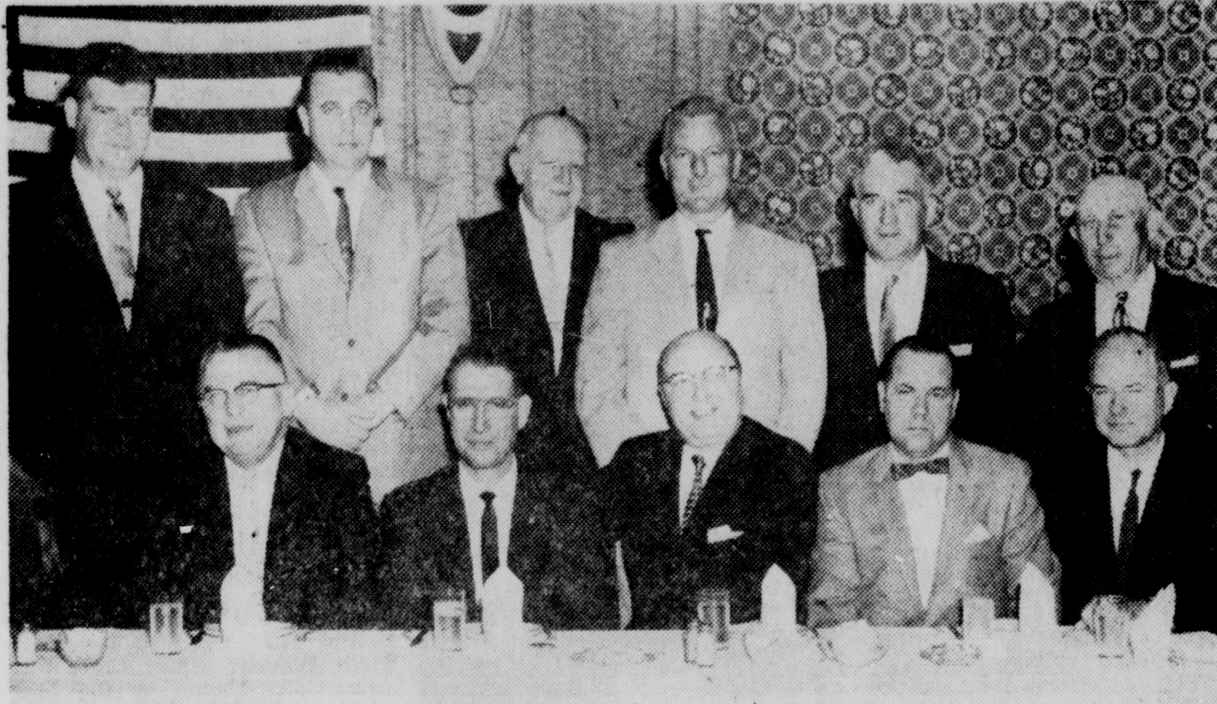

A—Unless disability is involved, benefits to both will stop when your brother reaches 18. Your mother's benefits will resume when she reaches 62.

Q—For 20 years I paid into social security. Now I am a public school employee. Will I get social security when I am 65?

A—Yes, you have more than enough quarters for social security.

MAGISTRATES ANNUAL DINNER—The annual dinner of Ulster County Magistrates Association was held Saturday night at Ireland Corners Hotel. Principals attending were (l-r) seated, Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, Justice John Tenaglia, Town of New Paltz, association president; County Judge Raymond J. Mino, Harold E. Macholdt, secretary, and Attorney David Corwin, New Paltz; standing, Justice

Area Magistrates Urged To Preserve Court Plan

The 10th annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Magistrates Association was held Saturday at the Ireland Corners Hotel with Magistrate Francis Goetchius of Suffern as the principal speaker.

Judge Goetchius told the magistrates that the association must be "on guard" to preserve the lower court system, pointing out that about 90 per cent of the matters handled by courts in New York State are handled by the lower courts "by men who live in the community and know the people, where there is local control."

The best way to preserve the lower court system is to elect persons well qualified to serve, to serve with dignity and decorum, to seek the best possible training, avoid favoritism, forget politics when sitting, be attentive, considerate and fair.

Jack Smith, deputy Ulster county clerk and a former magistrate, introduced Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn who served as toastmaster.

Among those attending were seven past presidents of the county association—Harold E. Macholdt, Jr., 1953; Edward Brodsky, 1954; John L. Smith 1956; Allan Dargie, 1957; Wilfred Doolittle, 1958; Warren McDowell, 1959, and James Palen, 1960.

Palen, the outgoing president, who was presented with a gavel by the new president, John Tenaglia of New Paltz, spoke briefly, thanking the officers who served with him and expressing his appreciation to Macholdt whom he described as a "workhorse" for all the assistance rendered during his administration. Macholdt is a former vice-president of the New York State Magistrate's Association, and a current member of its executive committee. Also on the executive committee are Goetchius and Sylvester Albano.

Officers Presented
Tenaglia told his audience that he had been presented with a "fine team" to work with in 1961. He introduced the officers of the association as follows:

Vice-president, Rudolph C. Baumgarten, Woodstock; secretary, Macholdt, town of Ulster; treasurer, Dargie, town of Esopus; directors, Edward Brodsky, town of Rosendale; John Beaver, town of Esopus; James Palen, town of Plattekill; William Doolittle, town of Rosendale, and John Smith, town of Marbletown.

Tenaglia cited the responsibility of the magistrate system, saying that the lower courts are the "most important of all." They can stimulate all citizens to know the law and obey it, he said.

He pointed out that responsibility for guarding the rights of the defendants is paramount, that in dealing with the problem of public attitude toward the lower courts and the law it is necessary to humanize our handling of the defendant.

Laws for Defendants
"Whenever the opportunity arises, we should make sure that a defendant understands that the law is for his own protection and that a violation which might seem minor to him, such as going through a stop sign, could result in an accident and possibly even death," Tenaglia said. "We should take into account that the average defendant is a law-abiding citizen who finds himself in an emotional upset by being before a magistrate and we should try to make him understand that the laws are for him rather than a means of raising revenue for authorities.

"What happens to him when he appears in one of our courts will probably have a lot to do with his opinion of our entire judicial system and the law," Tenaglia said.

"Finally, I believe that the value of the local magistrate to his fellow men rests not so much on his learning as on their confidence in him and in his motives," the president said.

Goldberg Defends Kennedy Proposals to Congressmen

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Just as President Kennedy's critics begin ganging up on him—because they think his programs go too far or not far enough—it is suddenly revealed he is practicing the art of the possible.

His very active secretary of labor, Arthur Goldberg, defends him for not being more demanding in his proposals to Congress. Goldberg says Kennedy is asking for as much as he thinks he can get.

Praise, Complaints
At Miami last week the AFL-CIO Executive Council praised the President for giving the country a "new sense of purpose." But it complained his plans for economic recovery fall short of enough.

On the other side the American Medical Association, long-time foe of Kennedy's idea of linking medical care for the aged to Social Security, has asked its physician members to talk their patients into being against it, too.

Kennedy got it from still another direction for his failure so far to ask Congress for a single piece of civil rights legislation.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, attacked Kennedy for this failure and reminded his administration that the Democratic platform in 1960 made awfully big promises in this field, including action by both Congress and the President himself.

Mitchell pointed out Kennedy hasn't yet issued a single executive order on civil rights. Monday in Miami Goldberg, former attorney for many AFL-CIO unions, told the executive council Kennedy's programs represent his best judgment of what is obtainable from Congress where conservatives of both parties dominate.

GOP Must Decide
Also Monday Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois, one of the most important Republicans in the House, said his party won't oppose Kennedy for the sake of obstruction but for what's good for the country.

But if Kennedy has a problem in dealing with the Republicans, they have one of their own in dealing with him: How far can they go in opposing him without ruining themselves?

The voters have shown so little confidence in them that in every election since 1954 they have pushed the Republicans in Congress aside and given control of both House and Senate to the Democrats.

Sound Like Optimists
In fact, the voters have trusted control of Congress to the Republicans for only four years out of the past 28. Still, Republicans are beginning to make sounds like optimists about the 1962 elections, although not loudly.

So, before they play tiger with Kennedy programs which affect the welfare of millions of people, they have to ask themselves: Where will this leave them in 1962 and, for that matter, in 1964, too?

Arends on a TV program said he thought the vote on most of Kennedy's programs would be extremely close. This may explain why Kennedy hasn't sent any civil rights legislation to Congress. For his other programs he'll need all the votes he can get, including votes by the Southern Democrats who team up with Republicans. If he offered a civil rights program, they'd fight it for sure and slow up everything else.

In addition a hard drive by Kennedy for civil rights legislation might so anger them they'd fight harder against some of his other requests.

May Use Brother's Help
But it's hard to see, in view of the big Democratic pronouncements and promises in the campaign, how he can ignore civil rights to the extent of not only asking Congress for nothing but doing nothing himself.

Therefore, it should be no surprise if later this year he takes action in the civil rights field—not through proposals to Congress—but through his brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

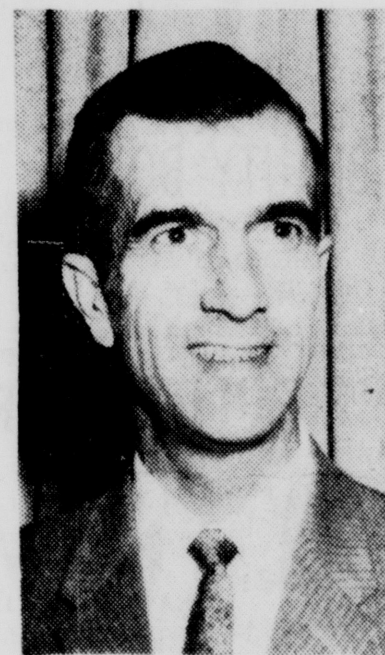

Robert Kennedy is head of the Justice Department which is responsible for enforcing civil rights protections.

Y-Wives Announce Spring Projects

With an eye to the future, the Y-Wives have announced some of their plans which were formulated at the Thursday, Feb. 23 meeting held at the YWCA.

Swedish embroidering on huck toweling will be started at the March 9 meeting. The Mmes. Walden Purdy and John Greco will instruct the group in this program. Items to be made include cafe curtains, place mats and aprons.

An outstanding spring project during April will be the making of plastic flowers, under the instruction of Gertrude West of Highland.

The Junior Marrieds of the YWCA have invited the Y-Wives to their March 16 meeting at which time a talk on "art" will be presented.

Hostesses for the meeting were the Mmes. Walter Vasilevick and Nicholas Kachura. The YWCA is a Red Feather Agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

Casual Lines Are Slated for Spring And Summer Clothes

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Most of the women who will wear them got their first look at the latest fashions from Paris today.

If they agree with enthusiastic buyers this season, Paris can rack up another popular success.

The designers are out to please with a breezy, easy silhouette—easy to wear, easy on the eyes, but definitely not easy to copy. Men are supposed to like short skirts, so they should be happy, too.

Reports from the end of January openings often mentioned the flapper or 1920s trend, particularly in the top-of-the-season collections of Dior and Ricci. But pictures from the openings, released today for publication prove that the designers are not merely copying a worn-out style, but interpreting it in a way that looks new and modern. Resemblance to the 1920s comes in short skirts, often showing a glimpse of the knees, and in a waistless or long, loose-waisted look.

Pierre Cardin cut his cloth looser than anyone else for his off-the-figure sarongs. Lanvin's Castillo bucked the general trend for low-flaring skirts with his down-tapping "ace of diamonds" silhouette.

One thing all the designers agree on is a fitted hipline, and with one or two minor exceptions, a flat-chested look which also harks back to flapper fashions.

The breezy, wind-blown air that all the designers tried for is carried out in pleated and flared short skirts with blousy, semi-fitted tops, and in such thin, airy materials as silk crepes, chiffons and organzas.

The fresh, pale colors add to it, too: pinks, peach, apricot, mint and lime green, abstinence and daffodil yellow, cherry red, light blues and white, with some black and white combinations and pale beige, gray and navy for day wear.

The designers can take polka dots or leave them alone. Patou and Balmain sprinkled in a few giant spots. Floral printed chiffons are so pretty they seldom failed to draw applause. One of the most attractive ideas is floral chiffon dresses with matching unlined coats, highly transparent and really light as a breeze.

ROSARY GUILD PLANS FASHION SHOW

Members of the Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church in Saugerties meet to complete plans for their March 12 fashion show to be given in the Saugerties municipal auditorium at 2 p. m. In the group are, seated (l-r) Mrs. William Garzone and Mrs. Ramon Parenti, co-chairmen;

Eggs Herald Spring

Now is the time to give eggs heavy booking on the menu. Supplies are increasing to their yearly peak, the large sizes are becoming increasingly abundant, and prices are falling to their annual low. Large-size eggs are an economical choice at this time.

Egg prices are higher now than at this time last year but have decreased seasonally from early January. You can expect prices to continue their seasonal decline during the spring months.

Enjoy the seasonal supply of eggs with custard pie. Custard pie fillings are thickened mostly with eggs. Usually the filling is poured into an unbaked crust, and the filling and crust are baked at the same time.

Food and Nutrition specialists from the New York State College of Home Economics recommend several ways to help prevent soaking of the crust.

Choose a pie which will permit good browning. Medium-weight pans of dull metal, oven glass, enamel, or tin pans which have darkened will absorb heat and give browner crust.

Be sure the crust has no cracks or holes so the filling will not seep underneath.

Refrigerate the pastry shell while preparing the custard mixture.

Minimize the baking time by having the filling hot when it is poured into the crust. In general you will get better results by baking pies on the bottom rack of the oven. But experience with your oven may indicate that you will have equally good results using other shelf positions.

Test pies for doneness by inserting a knife in the custard halfway between the center and the outside rim. The center may not seem set, but it will set as the pie cools. Do not overbake.

At the Markets
Fish—Fish is a mainstay in Lenten meals for many people. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Market News Service reports that the comparatively open weather in the past few weeks has boosted fresh fish supplies.

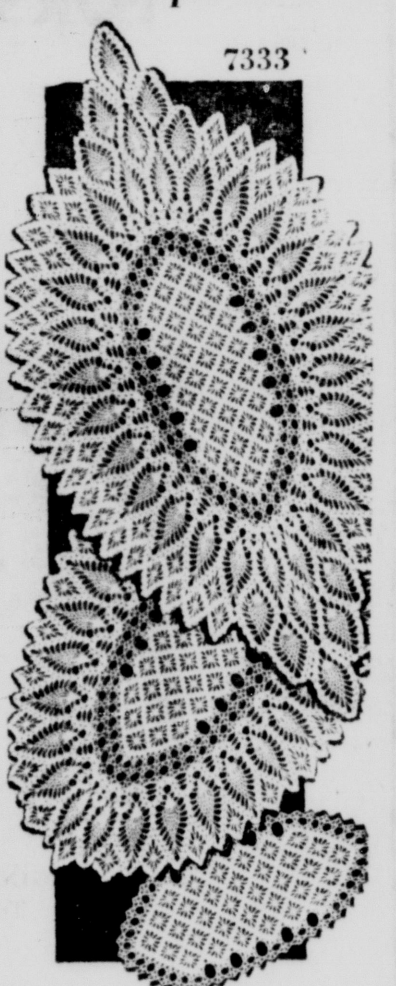

Vary the Lenten menu with shellfish. Top choices may include hard clams, lobster, crab meat, mussels, and bay and sea scallops.

Fruit—Citrus fruit, apples, bananas and rhubarb are leading fruit choices. Bulk apples, mainly the McIntosh, Cortland and Rome varieties are reasonably priced.

Vegetables—Carrot and celery output will be down sharply but an 80 per cent larger tomato crop is in the offing. Shoppers may also look for more green peppers, sweet corn, snap beans, cucumbers, eggplant and broccoli.

Don't overlook last fall's root crops from storage. There are still plenty of potatoes, sweet potatoes, turnips and rutabagas.

WEDDING GUESTS WITHOUT CARS

Q: My sister and I went to the wedding of a friend who lives in the country. As we have no car, we took the train. The reception was held at a country club about a mile away from the church. After the ceremony, everyone got into their cars and drove off to the reception, leaving my sister and me on our own. I was very much annoyed over this and thought the bride's mother should have made some provision for us to get to the reception. I would very much like to have your opinion.

A: At a wedding in the country, the bride's parents should indeed see that any guests who have no cars are provided with transportation.

Newcomers to Town

Q: Because of my husband's job we moved into a completely strange town about five months ago. Since that time, not even one neighbor has been over to visit us. I am terribly lonesome as we are several hundred miles from home and I don't know a soul here. Would it be permissible for me to take the initiative and go and visit some of the neighbors, or might they consider me forward?

A: It will really not be proper for you to visit these neighbors until they have called on you, or asked you to come to see them. You might get to know them by joining a church, working for charities or by taking part in other activities in which they are interested.

Thanking Young Man for Present

Q: My daughter invited a young man to our house last weekend. I went all out to make this weekend a pleasant one for him. When he returned home he sent me a small gift, with his bread and butter note. My daughter insists that I write a thank you note for the gift. I don't believe it is necessary as it was sent in payment. So to speak, for hospitality shown him.

A: The gift was the result of an impulse of friendship, not an obligation, and you should certainly write and thank him for it.

WILL WORK ON PILOT PROJECT—Named to a planning committee which will steer activities of a work study program for the education of teenage mentally handicapped students are, seated (l-r) Mrs. Dorothy Buehring, chairman; Stephen G. Hyatt, MJM principal, who an-

Coordinated Classroom Work; Job Training Is Planned for Handicapped Students Here

The possibilities of setting up a program whereby mentally handicapped students in their junior and senior years can combine classroom work with actual on-the-job training were explored at a recent meeting of educators and businessmen in Kingston.

Stephen G. Hyatt, principal of the Myron J. Michael Junior High School, has announced the appointment of a special committee which will assist in the formation of such a program. Chairman of the pilot project is Mrs. Dorothy Buehring, special education teacher on the staff of the Myron J. Michael Junior High School. Mrs. Buehring, who has been active in developing programs for mentally handicapped children in Steuben and Ulster Counties, brings to her appointment a wide background of knowledge and experience in the field of special education.

On the planning committee will be John O'Leary, MJM guidance counselor, and special education teachers, Miss Edna Merritt, Donald Muller and Henry Paley. Mr. Hyatt will serve in an advisory capacity.

The Work Study Program is an attempt to set up formula whereby selected students, 16 years of age or more, from special classes within the Kingston public schools will spend half a day in school and half a day in on-the-job training in suitable, cooperating industries or small business concerns.

The project entails considerable work with the overall plan broken down into four phases, exploration and local survey, organization, implementation, follow-up and evaluation.

The project is now in the second phase. It is proceeding on the adopted time schedule and it is anticipated that the program will be in operation by September.

State Educator Speaks

Sol Richman, coordinator of programs for the mentally handicapped, Vision of Vocational Rehabilitation, New York State Education Department, was the guest speaker at the special meeting. Mr. Richman stressed the fact that the school, as compared with other agencies, has time to work with students and develop their abilities and talents.

"Our schools must teach for living," Mr. Richman told his audience, "and learning to live with others takes time." Mr. Richman also emphasized that a sound school program, as a forerunner to a vocation, should embrace social integration, positive attitudes, concrete academic learnings, work experience and the development of specific technical skills.

As the student prepares to enter the latter phase of his formal schooling, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation assumes an active role, Mr. Richman said. The Division not only comes into a school system to counsel, but performs a direct service to each student participating in the Work Study Program. During this period the Bureau for the Mentally Handicapped, State Education Department, works closely with the participating school on a consulting basis, the speaker concluded.

List of Industries

Indicating an interest in the study-work project are the following industries and organizations, and their appointed representatives:

Thomas Muir, Benedictine Hospital; Charles Warshaw, Colonial Knitwear; Gorman Schellhammer, Eitel Engineering Corp.; Jacob Hochst, Electrol; Charles Dorst, Forst Meat Packing Company; Ronald Drowns, Governor Clinton Hotel; Dr. Royal J. Haskett, IBM; Lou Kaye, Kaye's Sportwear; Kelder Nursery (seasonal employment); Amos R. Newcombe, Kingston Hospital; Robert Davis, Kingston Knitting Mills, Inc.; Richard Kalish, Kingston Laundry; Stanley Kohnberg, Max Markowitz, Kingston Window Cleaning Company; Joseph Rinaldo, Minute Car Wash; Julius Miron, Miron Building Products Company, Inc.; Sully Flemming, Montgomery Ward and Company; James Fuller and Robert Short, Pine Grove Manufacturing Company.

Accepting appointments to the Community Advisory Board are the following:

Robert Brainard, president, Association for the Help of Retarded Children Inc.; Mrs. Mary Ceyens, director, Catholic Charities; Paul Jordan, Chamber of Commerce; Gerald Shampo, executive director, Children's Home; Charles Ronder, president, Gateways Association; Albert Trowbridge, president, Jaycees; Daniel Balsam, director, Jewish Community Center; Mrs. Robert Moseley, Kingston Area Council of Churches; Arthur Buddenbagen, Kiwanis Club; Jack Drewes, president, George Club (Town of Ulster); George E. Yerry Jr., business agent, Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters; Philip Toffel, Lions Club; John F. Randall, New York State Employment Service; John Barton, president, Rotary Club; George Johnson, Social Security Administration; William Palmer, Ulster County Extension Service; Agricultural Department; Dr. Arnold Woodhick, Ulster County Mental Health Association; Mrs. Rosemond Walker, Ulster County Welfare Department; Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden Jr., president, United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County.

Representing the Kingston Public Schools on the board will be: Robert Herzog, president, Board of Education; Earl F. Soper, Superintendent of Schools; Franklin Hazard, Assistant Superintendent of Schools; Mrs. Marian P. Gregory, elementary supervisor; James E. Tobin, director, Pupil Personnel Services; Murray Weiss, school psychologist; and Reginald Russell, principal, Chambers School and director of transportation.

Cooperating staff members in the project will include: Mrs. Hilda Sherlock, special education teacher and Frank Ratcliff, principal, School 2; Mrs. Norma Kidd, special education teacher, and Donald Sweeney, principal, School 4; Mrs. Fern Fafajta, special education teacher, School 6; Mrs. Carolyn Walker, special education teacher, School 8 and William Reardon, principal, Schools 6 and 8; Mrs. Janice Gaines, Mrs. Mabelle Mix and Miss Ezella Johnson, trainable class teachers; and Mrs. Freida Dingee, principal, School 7 and the trainable classes.

Consultants during the project will be: Miss Catherine M. Grace, area counselor, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation; Sol Richman, coordinator, State Programs for the Mentally Retarded; Division of Vocational Rehabilitation; and Charles D. Becker, associate in education of the State Education Department.

Assisting with arrangements for the civic meeting were the Misses Elizabeth Johnson and Edna Merritt; Mrs. Norma Kidd; Mrs. Hilda Sherlock and Mrs. Mabelle Mix; Donald Muller and Henry Paley.

On Saturday, a baked ham dinner will be served by the Fuel Committee of the Franklin Street AME Zion Church in the church dining hall from 1-7 p. m.

Dutchess Woman Denies Taking Welfare Payments

A 31-year-old former Poughkeepsie Welfare Department caseworker, on trial in Dutchess County court on charges accusing her of stealing $889.70 in payments destined for relief recipients, denied Monday afternoon on the witness stand the alleged thefts.

Mrs. Etta Louise Meadows, of Haviland Road, Town of Hyde Park, was scheduled to return to the witness stand today when court convened before County Judge John R. Schwartz and a jury of nine men and three women.

District Attorney Raymond Baratta rested the prosecution's case last Friday, with the understanding he would be permitted to reopen the People's case for additional testimony upon completion of the defense testimony.

Representing the Kingston Public Schools on the board will be: Robert Herzog, president, Board of Education; Earl F. Soper, Superintendent of Schools; Franklin Hazard, Assistant Superintendent of Schools; Mrs. Marian P. Gregory, elementary supervisor; James E. Tobin, director, Pupil Personnel Services; Murray Weiss, school psychologist; and Reginald Russell, principal, Chambers School and director of transportation.

Can Rheumatic Fever Be Prevented?

Unfortunately its cause is not yet clear. We do know that about half of all cases have had tonsillitis or a sore throat from one to four weeks before.

It must be recognized before the heart is seriously injured. Only a physician can diagnose it. Protect your children. Always consult your doctor when they have a fever or sore throat. If the diagnosis is early, rheumatic fever is not dangerous.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

GW Grade Pupils Prepare Exhibits For Science Fair

Pupils of Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades at George Washington School are busily preparing for the Third Annual Science Fair, March 13-17.

Entries will be chosen from the ten basic areas of science suggested by the State Education Department. The 10 basic areas include: Kinds of Living Things; Keeping Healthy; Using Magnetism and Electricity; Lifting and Moving Things; Common Chemical Changes; Energy from the Sun; The Atmosphere; The Earth and the Sky; Rocks and Soil and The Survival of Living Things.

In order to be eligible to participate in the Science Fair the exhibits must be prepared by one to three children to be eligible for an award. Group exhibits may be used for display purposes only. The size of a project is limited to three feet by two feet. Exhibits entered in any previous Science Fair may not be entered. All exhibits must be the work of students. Professional and parental help may be used to stimulate, motivate, and secure information. Criteria used for judging the exhibits are: Creative ability, 30 points; scientific thought, 30 points; thoroughness, 10 points; skill, 10 points; clarity, 10 points; and dramatic value, 10 points.

With less than three weeks left before the fair begins, the school is humming with various activities. Students are planning the location of their displays. The local fair culminates at New Paltz May 12 when the local winners present their exhibits at the College of Education in the Mid-Hudson School Study Council Third Annual Fair. Mrs. Laura Spindler and Mrs. Dorothy Raiche are the science fair representatives for the George Washington School.

Riding Club Schedules Three Summer Shows, Open May 28

The Woodstock Riding Club plans a series of three summer shows, the first scheduled for Sunday, May 28, it was announced today by show chairman Robert Davis of Hurley, who is also the club president.

The opening show will be followed by one on June 25 and third on July 30th. Entry fees to a class will be no more than one dollar.

The three championships to be offered will be known as the Woodstock Dollar Championships. They will represent, respectively, the Western, Saddle Horse and Hunter-Jumper divisions.

Points will be cumulative toward the championship trophies throughout the three shows and these trophies will be presented at the conclusion of the last show on July 30. There will be the usual trophies or prizes for individual classes.

Besides the events which count points toward one or the other of the championships there will be such classes as musical chairs, lead line, egg races, etc., as well as equitation classes.

Re-Nominate Mrs. Schwarz for LYW President

Mrs. Kermit Schwarz has been nominated to a two-year term as president of the Woodstock League of Women Voters.

Other recommendations that will be presented to the annual meeting by the nominating committee are: two-year terms: Miss Florence Hubbard, first vice president; Mrs. Richard Langham, secretary.

Nominated for elected board members for two-year terms are: Mrs. Gordon Frye, Miss Florence Harrison and Mrs. Herwig Sternberg. Nominated for the nominating committee for a one-year term are Mrs. Joseph Cardarola, Mrs. James Mulligan and Mrs. Peyton Williams, chairman.

The current nominating committee includes Gloria Walker, chairman; Barbara Burke, Loretta Shekita, Lynn Wells and Phyllis Wittner.

The nominating committee points out that further nominations will be accepted from the floor at the annual meeting in April. Any member wishing to nominate a candidate is requested to have a written statement that the candidate is willing to accept the nomination. The candidate must also be present in person at the April meeting to accept the nomination.

Christian Science

Sermon Theme: 'Man'

A hopeful message of universal freedom will be delivered in Christian Science churches Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man."

Man's rightful heritage of freedom will be brought out in the Scriptural selections which include Paul's advice to the Colossians (3:9-11): "Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him: where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read 227:24-26: "Citizens of the world, accept the glorious liberty of the children of God, and be free! This is your divine right."

Data on Wiretap Upheld by Court In Lye Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, in one of the busiest days of its present term, used a two-line sentence to rule that state courts may use wiretap evidence in criminal trials.

The high tribunal thus quickly disposed Monday of a hard-fought appeal in which emphasis was placed on the argument that wiretap evidence is barred in federal courts.

Voting 7-2, the court cleared the way for use of wiretap evidence in the New York trial of Burton P. Pugach. He is accused of arranging a lye attack on his girl friend. She was disfigured and partly blinded.

New York State's constitution and laws permit wiretapping by police under prior approval by a state supreme court justice.

Counsel for Pugach in arguments before the highest tribunal pointed out that the Federal Communications Act makes it a crime to tap wires and to use information gathered in wiretapping. The counsel added that federal law should bar New York Police wiretaps, regardless of approval by state court judges.

In upholding use of wiretap evidence in state courts, The Supreme Court cited a 1952 decision in what is known as the Schwartz Case.

In that case the court said that "where a state has carefully legislated so as not to render inadmissible evidence obtained . . . in violation of the laws of the United States, this court will not extend by implication the statute of the United States as to invalidate the specific language of the state statute."

Justice William O. Douglas dissented to the Pugach decision, joined by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Douglas said, "the privacy of the individual, history assures us, can never be protected where its violation by state officers meets with reward rather than punishment."

Most everyone enjoys pretzels, the "happy snack" of young and old. We've discovered a new way to use them—yes, a Pretzel Chili Sauce Pie.

It's a main dish, a party dish for teen-age get-togethers, and a new idea for church suppers. It is meatless, although well supplied with protein.

Pretzel Chili Sauce "Pie"

3 cups coarsely crushed pretzel crumbs
1½ cups (12-ounce bottle) chili sauce
2 large onions, chopped

1 cup (4 ounces) grated American cheese

½ cup milk or light cream
Blend ingredients in order indicated. Place in well-greased 10-inch glass piepan or in 1½ quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes. Garnish with whole pretzels before serving piping hot. Serve with tossed green salad.

Note: Place pretzels in bag or between waxed paper to crush; crumble with a rolling pin until they resemble coarsely chopped nuts. Using thin, twisted pretzels, 40 to 50 pretzels will make 2 cups crushed crumbs.

Lemmon, Liz Stand Out

The Sundowners' Favorite Movie In Oscar Derby

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Liz Taylor, Jack Lemmon and a family movie, "The Sundowners," rated early favorites today as Hollywood's 33rd annual Oscar derby was off and running.

For the beautiful Liz, her Academy Award nomination Monday as top actress was her fourth straight. Ironically, it came in a picture—"Butterfield 8"—which she balked at doing.

"It's pornographic," she once confided to a newsman. But she did it—still bound to her MGM contract—and gave the John O'Hara trollop a rousing portrayal.

May Be First

Lemmon is one of the screen's best light comedians. But it was his pathos in "The Apartment" that made him the actor to beat. If the Harvard-educated Lemmon wins, he will become the first actor in Academy Award history to win both the supporting and top actor awards.

Lemmon won the supporting Oscar a few years ago as Ens. Pulver in "Mr. Roberts."

The other top actresses nominated were Greer Garson, the Eleanor Roosevelt of "Sunrise at Campobello"; Deborah Kerr, who got her sixth nomination in "The Sundowners"; Shirley MacLaine, Lemmon's girl friend of "The Apartment"; and Melina Mercouri the happy-go-lucky prostitute of "Never On Sunday."

Has Competition

Lemmon's competition includes Burt Lancaster, the controversial revivalist of "Elmer Gantry"; Britisher Trevor Howard, the honky-tonk song and dance man of "The Entertainer"; and Spencer Tracy, who played Clarence Darrow in "Inherit the Wind."

"The Sundowners," filmed mostly in Australia, was an unusual picture for 1960. It has no sex theme, no violence.

The other pictures nominated as the year's best were "The Alamo," "The Apartment," "Elmer Gantry" and "Sons and Lovers."

The Academy Awards will be presented April 17 over the combined radio and television facilities of the American Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian Broadcasting Co.

Competent Help Is Advised for Filing Tax Forms

Taxpayers who seek professional assistance in preparing their 1960 returns should consult only qualified and competent firms or individuals, James A. O'Hara local district director advised today.

Members of the accounting and legal professions usually provide top-notch assistance, the tax official noted.

Frequently, taxpayers find business associates in their bookkeeping and accounting departments, and in banks or other financial institutions are qualified to help them, he pointed out.

The director suggests that taxpayers seeking assistance of a tax advisor in the preparation of their returns should:

Be sure the advisor has a permanent place of business or address where he can be reached in case IRS subsequently questions data on the return.

Insist that the refund check be sent to you, except where circumstances require a power of attorney relationship.

Beware of those advisors who claim the ability to obtain large refunds, or who ask a percentage of an anticipated refund as a fee; and,

Reject those advisors who suggest claiming dependents or deductions to which you are not entitled.

Students Protest Pact

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Thousands of high school students demonstrated against the new U.S.-South Korean aid agreement today in Taegu, South Korea's third largest city. South Korea's lower house ratified the agreement today.

matter of FACT

Ironically, it was on April Fool's day of 1861 that William H. Seward suggested he relieve the "green" President Abraham Lincoln of his duties. Seward was secretary of state in the Lincoln administration and fancied himself a more qualified Illinoisan. So he wrote a memo offering to take over the real operation of the government, with Lincoln as figurehead. But Lincoln refused to become a puppet.

Movies, Better Than Ever, Hong Kong Fans Convinced

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HONG KONG (AP)—You'd have to go far to find better film fans than the citizens of Hong Kong. Movie business is so good that television can't hurt it. This may be the only place in the world that TV hasn't been a success.

After five years of TV, there are still only 5,000 sets among Hong Kong's 3 million population. Factors holding back TV include:

1. Cost. The average citizen is too poor to afford a TV set. Even those who can buy one object to the system. All TV is transmitted by wire, and subscribers must pay a monthly fee of about $2.50.

2. Programming. Hong Kong's sole channel broadcasts only four or five hours daily, relying on old American series and ancient Chinese films.

3. Language. Only a tiny segment of the population speaks English. Dubbing is too expensive, and it is difficult to read Chinese subtitles on the small screen. Even the old Chinese movies have to be dubbed. They are mostly in Mandarin Chinese, while Cantonese is the principal tongue in Hong Kong.

The average citizen goes to the movies 20 times a year, compared with less than 14 in the United States. That keeps Hong Kong's 63 theaters busy, and competition is hot among the world's film suppliers.

American films can be popular, but they have to fight for the market. Local fans are star-consious. If a Hollywood film has no names, it has to be sold on other merits—story, spectacle, color. The Chinese especially like color.

A thriving local industry competes with the American product. There are several studios, including a new one built by Run Run Shaw, a colorful film magnate who also has studios in Singapore and 130 theaters throughout South-east Asia. He makes 40 films a year in Hong Kong.

Red China also provides competition. Hong Kong has been importing movies made by the Communists, most of them versions of Chinese operas, an ancient art form loved by the local population. Ostensibly, there is no propaganda content, but many of the operas carry an antiwar theme. And very often the rich man is the villain.

The censor keeps a sharp eye on violence in all films. This can mean wholesale cuts in some of the Hollywood product and banning of a few.

Small Game Shooters

Get an Extra Month

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Hunters will have an extra month of shooting small game on private preserves this year.

Gov. Rockefeller approved legislation Monday that extends the hunting season on private preserves from Feb. 28 to March 31. The extension is for this year only. The season began Sept. 1.

The State Conservation Department said the preserves were overstocked because heavy snows had curtailed hunting. As a result, owners of the preserves faced large financial losses, the department said.

Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm said the extension was a practical solution for sportsmen, who pay a fee for hunting, and owners of the preserves, who stock them with game.

Eckhoff, Williams, Brown, Bialosuknia Also on 1st Team

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Junior Al Hrdlicka, one of the big reasons why Saugerties High school captured the DCSL cage championship, is this observer's selection as the "Player of the Year" in the league.

Joining Hrdlicka on the circuit's All-Star team is his teammate Bill Eckhoff; Robbie Williams and Wes Bialosuknia of Roosevelt Central and Gary Brown, the Wappingers Falls ace.

The second team selections include John Nolan of Saugerties, Leo Dolan of Cardinal Farley Military Academy, Jeff Wood of Wappingers and Arlington's splendid pair of Art Crum and Rene Luik.

Williams and Brown are repeaters from last year's squad. Crum made the second team during 1959-60 and is on that squad again.

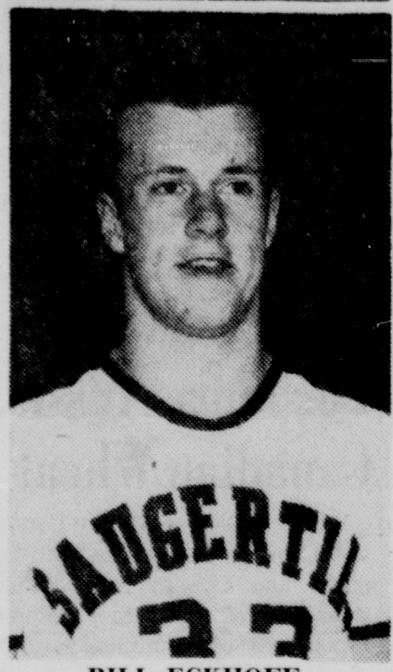

The first team is composed of three seniors — Eckhoff, Williams and Brown; a junior — Hrdlicka and a sophomore — Bialosuknia. All except Brown are around the 6-0 mark. They are good scorers and each played a prominent part in the success of their team.

Good on Defense

Hrdlicka gets the nod over Eckhoff and Bialosuknia as the top performer because of his great defensive ability which matches his offensive performance. Time and time again, Coach Bud Smith called on Hrdlicka to play the opposition's top offensive threat and each time the lad was equal to the task. With all that he still managed to lead the Sawyers in scoring.

Teammate Eckhoff was the most improved player in the league. He was the top rebounder for the Sawyers and he almost always managed to score in double figures. He's a rugged lad who played his best when the going was the toughest.

Williams, at 6-3½, the biggest player in the league, was not as sensational this time as last year but he was a marked man in every game he played. Robbie was among the top scorers, was rough on the backboards and had a lot of stamina to play as long as he was needed.

Outstanding Sophomore

Bialosuknia was the brightest sophomore to appear on the scene in a long time. The rangy 6-1 youngster follows in the line of his father, an outstanding athlete in the Poughkeepsie area. Wes can shoot from outside or can score from underneath. He should be quite a player for the next two seasons. Wappingers had only a 5-5 record in the league but without Gary Brown, the team could very well have finished in the basement. Brown led the team in scoring and was a solid all-around performer for the Indians. He was a bright spot in an otherwise poor season for his club.

Starter or Reliever, Duren Doesn't Care

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Did manager Ralph Houk merely want to light a fire under Ryne Duren when he said he was going to convert his relief star into a starting pitcher?

Was it because Houk felt Duren was out of shape last year when he ordered the fireballing right-hander to report this spring with the early squad and put in extra heavy duty on the mound? Maybe so, but Duren doesn't care one way or another.

"I'm a great believer," Duren said Sunday. "If Ralph says he intends for me to start, then I believe it. After all, Ralph managed at Denver, when I started something like 16 games for him, so he knows what I can do."

"But even if I don't start, I'm glad of the opportunity to get in some extra work. That's what I need and that's what I didn't get last year. I hardly did any pitching at all last spring and I simply wasn't ready when the season started."

Duren's work fell way off last season. He pitched only 49 innings and had a 4.96 earned run average while striking out 69 and walking 49. In 1959 he worked 77 innings, with 96 strikeouts, 43 walks and a 1.87 era.

"I won a job with the club in 1958 right here in spring training," he said. "I reported with the early squad and got in a lot of pitching."

"I've always had a lot of trouble with my control and the only cure for it is work. I got a lot of it in my first two years. But last year I didn't even pitch in batting practice. Apparently the boys objected to hitting against me. I couldn't blame them. I had no command of pitches."

Duren's chief weapon, of course, is his blazing fast ball. Some say that's all he has. Ryne is inclined to agree, although he maintains he has a fairly good curve.

Saugerties High Has Tournery Tilt Saturday, 6:15

Saugerties High school, winner of the DCSL cage title, has drawn a first round bye in the Section One tournery and will not see action until Saturday.

The Sawyers will play a Class B semi-final contest at 6:15 p. m., at the County Center in White Plains against the Horace Greeley-John Jay winner. Those clubs are slated to collide tomorrow night at the Ossining High school court.

Roosevelt Central, which finished behind the Sawyers in the DCSL race, will oppose Fox Lane of Mt. Kisco tomorrow at Ossining and the winner of that contest will collide with Yorktown on Saturday at 4:30 p. m. at the White Plains center.

The finals, featuring the winners of Saturday's two contests, will be held 8 p. m., Friday, Mar. 10, at the county center.

Arlington High school of the Dutchess County Scholastic league will play in the A division of the tournament and is scheduled to meet Tuckahe, a Class D school tomorrow, 7 p. m., at the Fox Lane school in Mt. Kisco. A school in Section One may jump into a higher bracket in the tournament if the record warrants it. Tuckahe has a 16-2 mark and has averaged 81 points a game.

Soviet Official Defends Thomas

NEW YORK (AP) — A high-ranking Soviet athletic official today came to the defense of John Thomas for losing two epic high jumping duels with Russia's Valery Brumel.

"Look at it this way," said Leonid Khomenkov, chief of the Russian version of the AAU, through an interpreter. "Put Brumel and Thomas in a competition with any other high jumper in the world. The other jumper would automatically wind up third. Either Brumel or Thomas would win every time."

In their two meetings indoors here, the 18-year-old Brumel has come out on top both times. In the New York Athletic Club games, he got over 7 feet 3 inches to 7-1 for Thomas. Last Saturday, in the National AAU championships, he cleared 7-2 to 7 feet for Thomas.

They meet for the third and last time this season on boards Friday in the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden.

"Why is Thomas being criticized?" asked Khomenkov in wonder. "To talk about his shortcomings and try to make him a better jumper — all right. We should do that with all of them."

"But to openly scold him because he has lost two meets — that is unfair."

Wilt to Break Record in NBA Tilt Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain is expected to break his single season National Basketball Association scoring record early in tonight's game against Los Angeles when his Warriors play host to the Lakers in Philadelphia.

Chamberlain moved to within six points Monday night when Philly beat the Lakers 113-88 in Los Angeles and he scored 35 points. An ice-cold first half during which he scored only three points kept him from breaking the mark of 2,707 he set last year as a rookie.

Counting Monday night's game, Chamberlain has scored 2,702 and still has five more regular season games left after tonight.

Wilt has a 38.0 average, well ahead of the Lakers' Elgin Baylor who has scored 2,305.

Cincinnati rookie Oscar Robertson and Bob Pettit of St. Louis, both of whom face each other tonight in New York, are battling for the third spot. The Big O has scored 1,993 points and Pettit, 1,938.

K-State and Marquette Now in NCAA Tourney

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas State's Wildcats and the young Warriors of Marquette have joined the lineup for the NCAA basketball championships, bringing to eight the number of schools set for the 24-team national tournament next month.

Kansas State clinched the Big Eight Conference's assignment in the tournament, whipping Nebraska 77-67 Monday night—an hour or so before Marquette announced acceptance of a bid to play as an at-large team in the NCAA's Midwest regional.

Texas Tech, still leading the Southwest Conference, failed in its bid to join the NCAA lineup Monday night—losing 95-91 in overtime to Rice at Houston. Tech at 10-3 has clinched at least a tie for the SWC title but Arkansas and Texas A&M both are 9-4 and could share the title and force a playoff or coin flip unless Tech beats defending champion Texas in its last loop game on Thursday.

Wildcats Romp
Kentucky, on an eight-game winning streak in a desperate bid for an NCAA berth, Iowa, Mississippi State, Vanderbilt, Xavier of Ohio, DePaul and New Mexico State won other key games on Monday night's college program.

Kentucky, with Ned Jennings scoring 23 points and Billy Ray Lickert 21, crushed Auburn 77-51 for a 9-4 Southeastern Conference victory with one game left. Vanderbilt matched Kentucky at 9-4 with one to go, beating Georgia 87-76 and their duel for the runner-up spot took some of the spotlight from Mississippi State, which clinched the Southeastern Conference title with an 11-2 record after clipping Tulane 62-57.

Mississippi State, now 19-4 overall, will not play in the NCAA tournament because of the unwritten state law against competition with Negroes. As a result, the next eligible team in line—Vanderbilt or Kentucky—will draw the tournament assignment.

Both Arkansas and Texas A&M kept alive in the SWC race—the Porkers beating Southern Methodist 88-82 in overtime, and the Aggies routing Baylor 90-69.

Iowa, sixth ranked nationally, overcame a 35-point performance by Purdue ace Terry Dischinger and beat the Boilermakers, 73-62. The Hawks now are 9-2 and could share the Big Ten title with national leader Ohio State should the so-far unbeatable Bucks lose their last two games while Iowa won its last three. Don Nelson scored 26 points and sophomore Matt Szyskowny 20 for Iowa, which pushed its overall record to 17-4.

Other Big Ten Tilt
Elsewhere in the Big Ten, Tom McGraw scored 21 points, Bob Griggs 20 and Dick Erickson 19 as Minnesota spilled Illinois 85-76. Northwestern beat Indiana 60-58 in overtime on Ralph Wells' basket with six seconds left; and Tom Hughtons' 17 points led Wisconsin to a 76-68 triumph over Michigan.

Ced Price's 19 points were tops for Kansas State, leading the Big Eight with a 10-2 mark to 8-3 for NCAA-ineligible Iowa. Oklahoma State downed Iowa State 58-55 and Colorado beat Missouri 70-67 in other Big Eight games.

DePaul, in the National Invitation Tournament field along with Memphis State, Providence, Detroit, Army, Miami of Florida, Dayton, Temple and Niagara, went on a 20-0 burst in the second half and whipped Youngstown 78-55 for a 16-7 record. Xavier of Ohio (16-7) beat Miami of Ohio, 86-81 in overtime, and Chicago Loyola (14-6) routed Washington of St. Louis 105-77 with Gerry Harkness scoring 33 points.

New Mexico State, winning the first of three it must sweep to tie Arizona State U. for the Border Conference championship, thumped Hardin-Simmons 78-59; and Western Kentucky held its slim chance at a tie in the Ohio Valley loop, beating Middle Tennessee 84-73. Florida dropped back to fourth in the SEC, beaten 52-50 by Georgia Tech as All-America candidate Roger Kaiser scored 15 points.

Spokane, Wash. — Kirk Barrow, 180, Spokane, knocked out Al Green, 171, Miami, Fla., 3.

Buffalo Wins, 57-54, Over Buffalo Teachers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Buffalo whipped crosstown-rival Buffalo State Teachers, Monday night, 57-54.

A six-point surge at the close of the game spelled defeat for the Teachers. Carmen Iannaccone with 18 points, was high man for State. Ray Rosinski's 14 was high for Buffalo.

The victory ran Buffalo's record to 17-4. Buffalo State now has a record of 12-8.

In the only other Upstate game, Oswego State defeated Utica, 90-82.

Sangaline Has Billard Lead Over Costello

Charlie Sangaline jumped off to an early lead in the city pocket billiard championship match with Billy Costello with a close 125-117 victory before a good crowd last night at the Uptown Billiard Parlor.

Costello trailed, 60-8, at one stage but he bounced back and closed the gap with runs of 28 and 24. Sangaline's runs were 28 and 22.

Play will resume tonight, 7 o'clock, with Costello leading off the second 125-point block.

Buckeyes Still Lead AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Ohio State, just two games away from a perfect season, has turned the voting for the nation's No. 1 college basketball team into a formality. But with the end of St. Bonaventure's amazing string of home court victories, it appears that this week's games will settle the No. 2 spot for the season.

For the 12th consecutive week, Ohio State's Buckeyes were the unanimous choice for first place of the 36-man panel of sports writers and broadcasters who make up the weekly Associated Press poll. They received the maximum of 360 points on the usual basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, etc.

St. Bonaventure, beaten for the second time in 23 games, barely held second by a five-point margin over Cincinnati (21-3). The 87-77 defeat of the Bonnies by Niagara was a shocker because it happened on their home court at Olean, N. Y., where they had won 99 straight over a span of more than 13 years.

The No. 4 team in a close vote is Bradley, the team that can tie Cincinnati for the Missouri Valley title if it can get past tough St. Louis Saturday.

The top ten, with first place vote in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (36)
2. St. Bonaventure
3. Cincinnati
4. Bradley
5. North Carolina
6. Iowa
7. Kansas State
8. West Virginia
9. Duke
10. Southern California

Rusk Quizzed On Buildup Of Weapons

The buildup by the United States and its allies is said to be favored by Rusk to meet the danger of brushfire war and lessen the risk of a nuclear conflict. Conventional forces would be used to combat any Communist military aggression that might be staved off without use of nuclear weapons.

In Secret Paper

"Massive retaliation," as enunciated by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, would put primary reliance on nuclear weapons as means of combatting Communist aggression.

Rusk's views were given in a secret paper to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Rusk's appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today was scheduled several days ago.

Informants said Rusk favored holding off the use of nuclear weapons until a Communist attack reached a more massive level than would have triggered atomic retaliation under the Eisenhower administration's policy. In defense language, this is known as raising the atomic threshold.

High officials made clear that the U. S. government still plans to draw on its atomic arsenal if necessary against Communist attacks abroad.

Paper Describes Position
A story in Monday's Washington Star described Rusk's position.

"1. Use of the big missiles and bombers carrying atomic weapons should be confined to deterrence of attacks on this country and deterrence of 'nuclear blackmail.'"

"2. Attacks on Europe should be met with conventional, non-nuclear weapons unless the enemy started to use nuclear weapons."

"3. Limited aggressions outside Europe should be handled by our troops, rather than those of our allies, and we should use non-nuclear weapons in meeting such aggression."

Distortion Charged
While declining to specify what Rusk recommended, Lincoln White, State Department press officer, denounced the Star version "as the grossest distortion of the views of the Department of State."

State Department authorities voiced concern that the Soviets might get a wrong impression from the Star's account and decide that West Europe is open for invasion without danger of atomic counterattack.

An inquiry was under way to find out what a story about the secret Rusk memo to the press. White accused those who leaked the story of "the most irresponsible and reckless attitude."

Suspend Sentence Of Girl Held for Greene Co. Theft
Thelma Lee Alston, 19 of New York City, charged with third degree burglary in connection with the theft of $210 from her employer's home at Windham, pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of petit larceny, and received a one-year suspended jail sentence imposed by Justice of the Peace George Carl of Leeds, it was reported today.

State police records indicate she made partial restitution to her former employer, Whit Y. Maury, manager of Cave Mountain Ski Slope at Windham. Troopers said she returned $109.95.

The former employee of the ski resort operator was apprehended at the New York Port Authority terminal in New York City on February 19 when she alighted from a bus.

Leeds state police had been notified that the girl had been seen near the premises. It was reported $210 was missing after she left. The girl was returned by troopers to the jurisdiction of Greene County courts.

Loss of money from the house was discovered on February 19 when Maury and his family returned home from the ski slope.

Red Cross Drive Chairmen Listed

The Red Cross fund drive, officially slated to begin March 1, has gotten off to a good start with the selection of all co-chairmen in the village and a co-chairman in the town, according to George Duffy, chairman of the town drives. In addition to naming of co-chairmen, some of the Red Cross activities have been noted.

Of the 50 per cent of funds collected that stay in the county, a portion goes towards the chapter's swimming and water safety program. Last year a scholarship to the Red Cross National Aquatic School in Massachusetts was awarded to William Thornton of Saugerties.

A part of Red Cross work is called home service. In Ulster County last year, over 300 families of servicemen or veterans were given assistance at a cost of over $3,000.

These are just two of the Red Cross activities that are administered by a staff of workers, whose volunteers outnumber paid staffers by 150 to 1.

Listed below are the co-chairmen by area. Volunteer workers are needed in each area.

Village co-chairmen—Area A, Mrs. Rudolph Koehn; Area B, Kathleen Simmons; Area C, Mrs. Walter Kiernan; Area D, Mrs. William Brinnier; Area E, Mrs. Walter Johnson; Area F, Mrs. Richard Redder; Area G, Mrs. Anthony Zmyarch; Area H, Mrs. Anthony Vievich; Area J, Mrs. Frank Short, Town co-chairman for Area L, Mrs. Irwin Rightmyer.

Church Council Lists Schedule Of Lenten Series

The monthly meeting of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches was held Monday evening in the newly built Loughran Hall at the Flatbush Reformed Church. Preceding the meeting, a chicken dinner was served by ladies of the church.

Because many people have expressed the desire to have the Lenten services at an earlier hour on Sunday evenings, the council voted to have remaining services at 7:30 instead of at 8 o'clock. This week's service will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, with the Rev. James Blane of the Flatbush Reformed Church preaching.

Plans were made for the annual Good Friday service March 31 at the Saugerties Congregational Church. The service will be held from noon to 3 o'clock. Assignment for sermons on the Seven Words from the Cross are as follows:

First, the Rev. Joseph H. Rainear, Saugerties Methodist pastor; second, the Rev. Walter Cowen, Atonement Lutheran; third, the Rev. Henry L. Reinewald, Plattelick Reformed Church, Mt. Marion; fourth, the Rev. Carl Hiemstra, Saugerties Reformed; fifth, the Rev. August Pfau Jr., Blue Mountain and Katsbaan Reformed; sixth, the Rev. Alvin Messersmith, St. Paul's Lutheran, West Camp, and seventh, the Rev. James Blane, Flatbush and High Woods Reformed.

A supervised nursery will be provided for youngsters coming with their mothers.

No Eastern Dawn service will be held in Saugerties this year. However the Council of Churches will support the 7 o'clock service at the Flatbush Reformed Church on Easter morning.

The council will support an organizational meeting for single young adults to be held at the Saugerties Methodist Parish House 7:30 p. m. March 13.

Next month the council will meet March 27 at the Katsbaan Reformed Church.

Business Course Ends Tonight

The final meeting of the small business management course, sponsored by the Saugerties adult education program and the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, will be held at Saugerties High School tonight from 7:30 to 9:30. Raymond J. Connolly, assistant chief, financial assistance division of the Small Business Administration in New York City, will discuss the important topic of Getting Money to Use.

Connolly is a graduate of St. John's College and holds a law degree from Fordham University. He has had 23 years of experience working with business financing as examiner in the credit and loan divisions of various agencies.

Diplomas will also be presented to members of the class by Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager of the New York State Department of Commerce.

Teacher Has Art Show

A one-man art show is being held by one of the art teachers in the Saugerties Central Schools. Miss Deborah Davenport is holding an art exhibit in the Jones Library of Amherst College on March 1 between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.

Miss Davenport is a graduate of Skidmore College. She began work in the Saugerties Central School system last September.

Square Dance Class Starts Friday Nights

The Saugerties Western square dance class got started Friday night at the Town Hall. Saugerties, George Clapper, the caller, announced that the class will be closed to further registrations after this Friday.

The group will meet for a series of 10 lessons on Western Square Dancing every Friday 8:30 p. m. Sponsoring the class is the Hudson Valley District YMCA, the Saugerties Youth Council and the Saugerties Recreation commission.

Among those registered to date are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Perkins, Miss Bertha Fredericks, Robert Remick, Mr. and Mrs.

Bernard Leszko, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Staudacher, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John Welton, Mr. and Mrs. James LaChance, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bond, Mr. and Mrs. William Tompkins Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Nenschoten, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mesick, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young, Mr. and Mrs. David Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Appleby, Mr. and Mrs. George Terpening, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Schorer and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chatham.

West Camp Church

Special services and meetings at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp were announced today by the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor.

Wednesday 8 p. m. the Rev. Norman C. Krapf, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, will be the guest preacher at the midweek Lenten vespers service at West Camp. The Rev. Mr. Messersmith will be guest preacher at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties.

Thursday 6 p. m. West Camp Auxiliary meets in the parish hall. A covered dish supper will be served prior to the meeting.

Sunday 7:30 p. m. Saugerties Area Council of Churches will conduct a Lenten service at West Camp with the Rev. James Blane, pastor of Flatbush Reformed Church as guest preacher.

Methodist Church Notes
The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Saugerties Methodist Church will meet tonight in the church chapel. Mrs. Joseph Rainear, spiritual life secretary will have charge of Lenten devotions. The program will be led by Mrs. Sonja Gardner speaking on Thoughts on Germany. Members of the CIHU circle will be hostesses.

Wednesday, March 1, the commission on missions and the commissions on stewardship and finance will meet at the church 7:30 p. m.

Thursday 6:30 p. m. the Methodist Men will meet at the church and leave immediately for a tour of the Ferroxcube plant. After the tour they will return to the church for refreshments.

At 8 p. m. a conference stewardship meeting will be held at the First Methodist Church, Newburgh. Dr. Edwin Briggs, secretary of the board of lay activities of Chicago, will be the speaker.

Refugees Get Checks
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Cuban refugees today were enjoying concrete proof of Uncle Sam's sympathy — relief checks handed out in the first disbursement of federal funds to the Miami Cuban refugee center.

Heads of families got checks averaging $38. The total disbursement, handled by Florida Welfare Department officials, amounted to almost $10,000. Refugees who got checks Monday may return in two weeks for more assistance.

JFK to Meet Press
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 10 a. m. EST Wednesday. The White House said Monday the session will not be carried live on television or radio.

Pickets Withdrawn At Glasco Rendering Plant
Members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Food Employees Union Local 474 of New York City, who had been picketing the Theobald Industries rendering plant at Glasco failed to appear this morning, according to Patrick Burns, plant superintendent.

Picketing had been going on in front of the plant since Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone said only two men, reportedly from the union, appeared this morning but did not set up a picket line or carry display signs.

Mayone said the Kearney, N. J. plant of Theobald was on strike and picketing was used in an attempt to persuade trucks traveling between the two plants from loading and unloading.

It had been previously reported that the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union Local 445 was supplying pickets. The teamsters are not involved, Deputy Mayone said.

About 3,100 lives were lost in tornadoes, hurricanes and floods in continental United States from 1950-59.

Joyous Jewish Holiday Begins March 1 Sundown

One of the most joyous Jewish holidays, Purim, the Festival of Lots, will be commemorated by Jews this year in synagogues and homes beginning sundown, March 1.

Festive in spirit, the celebration marks a successful struggle in ancient Persia against the forces of religious bigotry. The story of Purim is recorded in the Megillah, a scroll containing the Book of Esther, found in the Bible.

This biblical tale relates the Persian Queen Esther's fight against Haman and his attempts to persecute the Jews. The story tells how Haman, the Prime Minister, tried to force the Jews to abandon their form of worship and prostrate themselves before pagan idols or face extinction. Current struggles by all people against discrimination in the world today take on stronger meaning as this initial resistance against religious persecution is remembered.

In the synagogue the holiday is marked by sermons stressing religious liberty, prayers of thanksgiving, reading of the Megillah, gay musical selections and special social activities.

Children find a particular delight in this holiday. During the reading of the Book of Esther the youngsters are provided with noise makers to drown out the name of Haman each time it is uttered.

Religious schools usually schedule Purim carnivals and masquerades. Parents and children present special gifts to the needy.

Special delight is taken in the eating of Hamantaschen, a triangular pastry especially baked for the holiday.

Local Observances
Local synagogues will observe the holiday with services as follows:

Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Herbert I. Bloom, Rabbi—Purim service 7:45 p. m. Wednesday with reading of the Megillah. Purim carnival Sunday 10:30 a. m. at the temple.

Agudas Achim, 24 West Union Street, H. Z. Rappaport, Rabbi—Special Purim services, Wednesday 5:45 p. m. and Thursday 7 a. m.

Ahavath Israel, 72 Wurts Street, Jacob Rubenstein, Rabbi—Wednesday 7 p. m. Purim service at the synagogue with reading of the Scroll of Esther in the original Hebrew. Refreshments will be served in the vestry following the service.

Sunday 10:30 a. m. Kingston Talmud Torah will sponsor a children's party with puppet show at the Elk's Hall, Fair Street.

Glusker, Eckert Get Democratic Nominations

Ellenville Village Democrats unanimously renominated Mayor Eugene Glusker and Trustee William Eckert for another term at a party caucus Monday night in the Village Hall. Mayor Glusker is seeking a fourth term.

Twenty-five Democrats attended the caucus which lasted 19 minutes, and was presided over by Nathan Raskin, chairman of the Town Democratic Committee.

Salvatore Accardi was nominated as candidate for a trusteeship.

Republican Nominees
Jerome Z. Elkin, incumbent trustee, was nominated Friday at a Republican caucus, as the party candidate for mayor.

Frank Greco, incumbent trustee, was renominated to succeed himself. The Republicans also nominated Edwin Hoar as a candidate for trustee.

The offices of mayor and two trustees will be filled in an election Tuesday, March 21.

Registration Dates
Registration dates are Friday, March 3 from 4 to 8 p. m., and Saturday, March 11 from 1 to 5 p. m. Registration on both days will be held at the Scoresby Hose Company Firehouse. Required to register are new arrivals in the community, those who have not voted the last four years and persons who have not voted previously in town elections.

Will Is Held Valid
A jury in surrogate's court Monday held the will of the late Marie Engel of Ellenville valid and held that she was competent to make a will and that there was no undue influence at the time the will was made. Probate of the will was contested by Fred Engel, a brother. Alex J. Nirenberg appeared for proponents of the will and John Bonomi appeared for contestants. The jury trial was held before Surrogate Francis X. Tucker.
